
A Moment of Discovery
Amanda Meyer

I carelessly glance
Through the grease fingered window
Framed by white-wash scratched walls
And indifferent patterned furniture
As I'm sitting in my cold bare feet
Itching at dry winter skin
I chew my neglected lip

I stop to notice the snow