Contents

Woodcut ................................. Joseph Rilus Eastman ................. 4
Mr. Tippet and the Archbishop ...... Joseph Rilus Eastman ................. 5
Prize Short Story, 1936 .............. Robert W. Straughn ................. 7
Prize Poetry, 1936 ..................... Louise Dauner .................. 9
The Kid .................................. Virginia Cunning ................. 12
Love ..................................... Mary Catherine Funkhouser ........ 13
For Blood and Wine are Red .......... William DeClark ................ 14
Pie-Eyed .................................. Jane Pfeiffer ................. 17
Wooden Pillow, A Review ............. Mary Catherine Funkhouser ........ 19

Freshman Section

Woodcut ................................. Elizabeth Messick ................. 20
Life With Father, A Critical Essay ... Doris Goldsmith ................ 21
The Dinner ................................ Melvin Cranfill ................. 24
Four Thoughts on Four Themes ......... Charles Aufderheide ........... 25
Stones To Mark the Path ............... Betty Richart ................ 28
Robert Frost, An Authentic Voice in
    American Poetry ....................... Robert Ayers ................ 27
Man's Opinion of Himself .............. Hilton Atherton ................. 29
On Predestination ....................... Samuel Gordon ................ 31
Cover .................................... Joseph Rilus Eastman ........ 31
MSS

VOL. III. MAY, 1936 No. 4

EDITORS
Grace Ferguson, Editor-in-Chief
Jane Beuret
Rebecca Blackley
Louise Dauner
Joseph Rilus Eastman
Mary Catherine Funkhouser
Elizabeth Messick
Gene Smith
Margaret Spencer
Max Stuckey

JUNIOR EDITORS
Betty Richart and Charles Aufderheide, Editors-in-Chief
Robert Ayers
Chloris Bell
Martha Finney
Lowell Gano
Samuel Gordon
Elizabeth Henderson
Harriet Lindley
Betty Lee Soehner
Virginia Wallace

FACULTY SPONSORS
Allegra Stewart
Don Sparks

Published four times a year by students of the English Department of Butler University
Indianapolis, Indiana
Printed by the Butler University Press
Price, fifteen cents a copy