The charter of this Institution authorizes its Board of Directors to organize Colleges for Literature, Law and Medicine, and also a Normal School. The Board have put into operation, for the present, Schools sufficient to prepare for graduation in Literature and Law. Each of these schools is under the charge of a Professor, as Principal, with such assistants as the number of students may make necessary. The number of schools will also be increased by the appointment of additional Professors, whenever the funds permit and the literary demands of the University require this expansion.

I.—THE ENGLISH AND NORMAL SCHOOL.

Prof. J. R. CHALLEN, A. B.

In this Department, the English Language and the Sciences which pertain to every-day life, will receive the attention which their importance demands. The art of reading, speaking, and writing the language of our country must of necessity be one of the chief aims of a scholastic course, hence every effort will be made to render familiar all the branches of an English education, the principal of which are Spelling, Reading, Penmanship, Mental and Written Arithmetic, Descriptive and Physical Geography, History, English Grammar, Composition, Elocution, Vocal Music, Drawing, Book-Keeping, &c.

II.—THE MATHEMATICAL SCHOOL.

Prof. G. W. HOSS, A. M.

The studies in this department will be, Algebra; Geometry; Trigonometry, Plane and Spherical; Surveying, Mensuration, Conic Sections, Analytical Geometry, Mechanics, Calculus, Astronomy, and Civil Engineering.

Special instruction will be secured to any who may pursue the study of Surveying with a practical object in view.
III.—THE CLASSICAL SCHOOL.

Prof. A. R. BENTON, A. M.

The books read in this School embrace an extensive course of study in Latin and Greek.

The course will comprise the reading of the following authors, commencing with Bullion's series of Grammars and Readers. In Latin, Cæsar's Commentaries, Sallust, Virgil, Cicero's Orations, Horace, Cicero de Amicitia, Tacitus, Cicero's Tusculan Disputations, Plautus. In Greek, Xenophon's Anabasis and Memorabilia, Herodotus, Homer's Iliad, Thucydidès, Demosthenes, Euripides and Plato, Greek and Roman Antiquities.

IV.—THE SCHOOL OF NATURAL PHILOSOPHY.

Prof. JOHN YOUNG, A. M.

This Department will combine Natural Science and Mental Philosophy.

1st. Natural Philosophy, Physiology, Botany, Chemistry and Geology.

2d. Rhetoric, Logic, and Mental Philosophy.

V.—THE LAW SCHOOL.

Prof. J. YOUNG, Attorney at Law.

The examinations for graduation in this Department require the study of the following authors: Walker's American Law, Blackstone's Commentaries, Kent's Commentaries, Stephen and Chitty on Pleading, Greenleaf on Evidence, Story's Equity Jurisprudence, and Cooper's Justinian Code.

Students may graduate in Law whenever the above course has been mastered.

VI.—THE SCHOOL OF MORALS.

The Charter of the Institution requires the Bible to be taught as a class-book, but forbids the inculcation of sectarian or partisan dogmas. To this Department will belong the evidences of Revealed Religion, and its analogy to Nature, Moral Philosophy, Natural Theology, and Biblical Criticism.

As accessories to moral instruction, Lectures will be given daily on the History, Biography, and Morality of the Bible. Furthermore, each student will be required to attend a Bible Class every Monday morning, and Church every Sunday.
