Student life is many things. It's bridge in the C-Club between classes. It's the all-night bull sessions with a roommate. It's getting ready for a date with that special person or going to one of the many sports functions. It's going without sleep during finals. As a matter of fact, student life is everything the student does while he is spending four years at college. It is a wonderful life, but there are times when the student wonders whether he will make it through all the rushed activities which characterize student life.
(1) Hub of Indianapolis — the famed Monument Circle is the site of our Hoosier capitol’s noteworthy landmark, the Soldiers and Sailors Monument. Erected as a memorial to Indiana’s armed forces, four epochs in our state’s history are commemorated by its bronze statues. Holiday festivities transform the axis of the city into a Christmas tree. Brilliant multi-colored lights attract thousands of visitors from the middle-west. (2) Clouds shade the striking edifice of the City-County Building. Located in the heart of the city, it is the tallest building in Indiana. (3) Marking Indianapolis as a thriving metropolitan center is Weir Cook Airport. Jutting up amid illuminated fountains is the black granite obelisk in the World War Memorial Plaza. The stately Memorial Hall behind the obelisk remains a shrine to the American Flag. (4) The world watches Indianapolis—“Home of the 500”—on Memorial Day, as exhaust fumes grey the air at the start of the annual speed classic.
“500” Mile Race driver Duane Carter lent a professional touch to Butler’s wee “500”—the Delta Tau Delta Triclytron. Feminine feet pedaled furiously in a contest which brought the Alpha Chi Novi to “victory lane.” After ogling at more than just feminine feet, the judges’ choice for Delt Triclytron Queen was Nancy Lepanen, Delta Gamma.

Truckloads and truckloads of ripe watermelon were delivered to the Lambda Chi Alpha house for the annual Watermelon Bust. Melons were the focal point of the day's events: seed spitting, melon tossing, eating, and the crowning of the shapely Miss Watermelon Bust for 1963, Nancy Best, Kappa Alpha Theta.
The library has been described at night as a “floating palace of light.” The beautiful lighting effects outside and inside are outstanding. Complete with private study rooms for students and professors, the 300,000 volume library can house 850 students at one time.

Clowes Memorial Hall, a non-profit $3.5 million auditorium, is the product of a civic-minded university. The 2,200 seat interior is of the Continental style, with extra spaces between rows, no center aisles, three tiers of boxes and terrace seats. The stage house is 9 stories high. The entire third balcony is reserved for Butler students.
This year Butler has completed its three-year building program. Lilly Hall, the first building in this group to be completed, opened its doors last fall to house the College of Music. Finished before the recent building program started, the Pharmacy Building has been in use for over ten years. The Theological Seminary, a graduate school, will soon move into new buildings south of the campus. Jordan Hall, the main classroom building, was the first building completed on this campus. It has been used for classes since 1928. When the new wings on the men's and women's dormitory and the sorority houses are filled to capacity, Butler will house 1,500 students and will be predominately a resident campus.
The 1964 Drift presents a pictorial record of an exciting year in the history of Butler University. In it you will find views of our beautiful new buildings, glimpses of campus life, and—most important of all—portraits of your teachers and fellow students.

As the years pass, there will be many changes at Butler—generations of students will come and go; new teachers will join the faculty; and the physical plant will continue to grow. Then you will often find yourself turning to your copy of the Drift in an attempt to recapture the “good old days” of 1963-64. “Yes,” you will say, “that is the way things used to be at Butler.”

Such changes are, of course, inevitable. Yet one thing will remain constant—the dedication of your University to the goal of academic excellence. The faces on campus will change, and the campus itself will in time be altered; but Butler University will always strive to offer its students an education of the highest quality.

Alexander E. Jones

Dr. Loren C. Eisley, Chairman of the Graduate School at the University of Pennsylvania, was the guest speaker at the 108th graduation exercise June 9.

As the seniors received their diplomas—a goal of four years—they visually expressed happiness and anticipation for the years to come and sorrow for the college friends they would never see again. Youngsters looked on with wondering eyes, dreaming of the day they would wear the cap and gown.
Sigma Chi Derby Day gave women students their opportunity to prove they are not the weaker sex. The Derby Chase, mud event, egg contest, relays and the mystery event allowed the girls to display their agility, stamina and coordination. Connie Nelson, Alpha Chi, was queen. Kappa Alpha Theta won the overall trophy.

Student Council Activities Fair

"Step right up, ladies and gentlemen! Try your luck at our game of skill. Break the balloon and win a prize!" This was the familiar cry heard at the Student Council Activities Fair. The carnival goers enjoyed an atmosphere of frivolity throughout the women's gym. The booths had a variety of games ranging from miniature golf to darts.

Freshmen class officer candidates were introduced, and the Butler football team was greeted by cheers and the War Song.
Miss Indiana for 1963-64 Marsha Pinkstaff is the second consecutive Miss Butler to be chosen to represent Indiana in the Miss America Contest. Marsha was preceded by Miss Jane Flanigan, a radio-television major from Lebanon. Marsha is majoring in French and English. Presently a junior at Butler, she is a member of Kappa Alpha Theta sorority.
“You are attending campus open houses, and the last one to which you are going calls for very casual dress. What would you do if you were dressed quite formally and had no time to change?” That was the winning question for Jan Clare, representing Pi Beta Phi, in the 1963-64 Drift Beauty Pageant held as usual in Atherton Center on November the eighth. Bill Baars, representative of Phi Delta Theta, was selected as “Most Eligible Bachelor.” Dr. Archie Nichols, professor in the College of Business and acting as master of ceremonies, narrated the pageant to background music provided by Bernie Weimer.

Crusaders Will Bow to Butler

Butler University's housing units greeted visiting alumni and Valparaiso "Crusaders" with elaborate decorations and slogans. Homecoming festivities began with a host of local dignitaries acting as judges of the students' efforts, the entries being judged on five individual categories: originality, appropriateness, neatness, and development of idea and artistry. At 4:00 in front of the Bell Tower, Marlene Reese, Pi Beta Phi, was crowned Homecoming Queen by President Jones. The first event over which she reigned was the annual Sigma Chi-Phi Delta Theta chariot race, won this year by the Phi Delta crew. Later in the evening the campus participated in a torch light parade and pep rally followed by a dance in the C-Club where finalists for house decorations were announced.
Say 1964 Homecoming House Decs

Bright and early the next morning the freshmen lost to the sophomores in a greased pole fight and tug of war, and consequently faced another month of wearing their beanies. That afternoon the Bulldogs were luckier than the freshmen and jolted the “Crusaders” 20 to 12. At halftime Lambda Chi Alpha and Kappa Alpha Theta were announced as the winners of the House Decorations competition. The weekend was climaxed by the Homecoming Dance at the Indiana Roof, featuring Chuck Holden and his orchestra and the presentation of the Queen and her court.
Butler University’s College Bowl Team had the honor of appearing on the General Electric College Bowl program December 15, 1963. Those predominantly responsible for organizing and training team members were the College Bowl Committee, consisting of Dr. Robert Gilpin, Dr. Marshall Dixon, Dr. Harold E. Johnson, Theron Ebel, and Jeannie Lovering. The team members, Craig Pinkus, Jack Glazier, Phyllis Gorfain, and Alan Monroe, were chosen from 12 other semi-finalists who practiced just as diligently as did the final four. They were: Terry Cooper, Paul Davis, Sharon Dwyer, James Eaton, Stephen Kitchen, Mike McGee, Sandra Miller, Karen Pelz, Mike Schwartz, Phil Shelton, Jay Ward, and Meredith Wiley.

Thanks to the generous gifts of campus organizations—Student Council, Y.M.C.A., A.W.S., Mortar Board, Blue Key, Panhellenic Council, and Interfraternity Council—the team was able to eat at Leone’s Restaurant Friday evening in New York City. Then Saturday afternoon there was a reception for the team at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Don Hoover (Mrs. Hoover a Butler alumna), to which members of the New York Alumni Association were invited. Then Saturday evening the team went to see the Broadway play “Luther.”

Sunday at 10:30 a.m. the team had to be at the N.B.C. Studio. From then until air time, there were practice sessions. At the last session before going on the air at 5:30, Butler thoroughly trounced the Bowdoin team.

Although not the winner against Bowdoin College, the Team competed with one of the strongest teams that had ever been on the show. Only one other school received more points than Butler did in the competition against Bowdoin.

“The importance of the trip,” Dr. Gilpin said, “lies in the fact that we were able to bring the Butler story before 6½ million people.”
February 7, 1964
Marks Founders' Day

Butler University marked its 109th anniversary with the inauguration of its fifteenth president, Dr. Alexander E. Jones. Dr. Jones, a graduate of DePauw University and recipient of M.A. and Ph.D. degrees from the University of Minnesota, was elected president of Butler on January 26, 1963. He came to the University in 1959 as the Dean of the College of Liberal Arts and Sciences. He became acting president September 1, 1962, when Dr. Maurice O. Ross retired.

The Founders' Day ceremony honoring the president was held in the new Clowes Memorial Hall, and was attended by representatives of many Indiana colleges and universities. Members of the Board of Trustees, faculty, student body, and representatives from Purdue, Valparaiso, Ball State, Indiana State, Indiana Central, Indiana University, Evansville, DePauw, Earlham, Wabash, and St. Mary-of-the-Woods marched in the procession which began the ceremonies. Mr. G. Cullen Thomas, trustee emeritus of Butler, led the impressive procession.

The invocation was given by Bishop Reuben Mueller, president of the National Council of Churches. Chairman of the Butler trustees, Harry T. Ice, gave the charge of office to Dr. Jones, after which our official president addressed the assembly. Dr. Kingman Brewster, Jr., seventeenth president of Yale University, delivered the inaugural address and was honored by the presentation of an honorary degree of Doctor of Laws.

Pamela Ulery, Mortar Board president; James Miles, Blue Key president; Dr. Werner E. Beyer, professor of English; and James E. Bettis, alumni president, gave short speeches in honor of the new president and the University.

Dr. Alexander E. Jones foresees that Butler will "... reach new levels of excellence."

Dr. David M. Silver introduces President Jones to confer an honorary degree of Doctor of Laws.

Dr. Kingman Brewster, Jr., President of Yale University speaks of the "... dispersion of power and initiative."

Dr. Kingman Brewster, Jr., receives the honorary degree from Butler University by President Alexander E. Jones.
Reprint from the Butler Collegian, November 27, 1963:

The Nation mourns for President Kennedy. A man of peace in a violent world, he devoted himself unspARINGLY to the welfare of his country and to the brotherhood of all men. At this tragic moment of his death, it is well to remember the words of Paul the Apostle to the Romans:

“As it is written, For thy sake we are killed all the day long; we are accounted as sheep for the slaughter.

Nay, in all these things we are more than conquerors through Him that loved us.

For I am persuaded, that neither death, nor life, nor angels, nor principalities, nor powers, nor things present, nor things to come.

Nor height, nor depth, nor any other creature, shall be able to separate us from the love of God which is in Christ Jesus our Lord.”

Like Abraham Lincoln, John Fitzgerald Kennedy was firm in doing right, as God gave him to see the right: and now he has been taken from us. Each of us should pray for our martyred President, and for the sorely afflicted members of his family.

We should also pray for our country itself. Much of America’s greatness has been due to our ability to seek solutions to our problems in peaceful and orderly fashion, differing over many matters but each of us respecting the right of his fellow-citizens to their own beliefs. If this mutual respect, each of us for the other, is to be supplanted by irrational hatred, and if submission to the processes of law and order is to give way to scheming malice and blind violence, then the fabric of our society will soon disintegrate.

In assuming the heavy duties of the Presidency at this tragic time, Lyndon B. Johnson deserves the unstinting support of every American. God grant him the strength, the wisdom, the courage, and the divine grace to sustain him during the days ahead.

Alexander E. Jones, President

Academics has traditionally been defined as "those fields of study pertaining to the classical, mathematical, and general literary departments of a college or university, as distinguished from the professional and scientific departments." But here "academics" serves to introduce the several schools of study on the campus of or affiliated with Butler: Jordan Hall, Lilly Hall, Pharmacy, and John Herron Institute of Art.
Liberal Arts Students

Dr. Lowry distributes paramecium to beginning zoology students.

Dr. Torbet explains the significance of their answers.
Advance from University College

Writing his doctor's dissertation takes all of the spare time of John Rossi of the history department. Over 78% of the Butler professors have achieved doctorates.

1964 marks the nineteenth year of the University College. Dr. Roland Usher (pictured at right) is Director of University College. A student must meet all the requirements established by the lower division college before he can progress onward to the upper division college of his choice.

A two-year certificate of Associate in Arts or in Sciences is awarded to students who complete these liberal arts requirements but do not continue their education at Butler.

With the completion of a total of 64 credit hours of 2.0 or better cumulative average in his work, the student in the University College may take one giant step forward into one of the following senior colleges: College of Liberal Arts and Sciences, College of Education, College of Business Administration, and College of Pharmacy.

After-class conferences benefit Alan Monroe. Dr. Usher explains economic theory to him. Students in the College of Liberal Arts and Sciences have the opportunity for individual guidance from many of the professors.
Butler University offers a two-year secretarial science course. In this course of study, a variety of business courses must be taken; typing, shorthand, accounting, and business machines are only a few of them. Along with these business education courses, the secretarial science student receives a broad liberal arts education. There is also a corresponding four-year program.

Interior decoration is only one of the many home economics courses offered to Butler students. Upon completion of these courses, a student may receive either a B. A. or a B. S. degree depending upon the number of hours taken in the major subject area.
Butler's English department offers almost any course that the college grammarian or literatis may desire. Its faculty provides incentive as well as knowledge to the students enrolled in English courses. Speech is a requirement for all students except those in the school of pharmacy. Beginning public speaking, oral interpretation, and other speech courses prepare Butler's future teachers, lawyers, and businessmen for the speaking world.

"Did you understand that essay?" asks Joanne Stantesky.

Slide rules find their way out of the math department as Dave Foreman uses an oversized model in a demonstration speech.
“Practice makes perfect” is an old adage found to be true by Jordan College of Music students. These students study vocal and instrumental music, drama and dance.

Along with courses in music theory, harmony, and composition, both vocal and instrumental music departments offer private or semi-private lessons. Between classes there is time for students to practice their lessons in one of the many practice rooms at Lilly Hall.

The vocal music department also gives students, both those who are music majors and those who are not, an opportunity to participate in one of the school's choral groups.

For instrumental music students and other students who wish to participate in an instrumental group, membership is open to the University Marching Band, the Wind Ensemble, and the Little Symphony. Instruments studied include woodwind, brass, strings, percussion, piano and the organ.

Drama department students also spend much of their time practicing techniques. In addition to presenting drama productions, these students study theater history, lighting, costuming, play analysis, and direction.

Practice Pays Off

The many long hours of practice required of a dance major pay dividends in the polished performances produced by the dance department. This year the department presented "Sleeping Beauty," a group of six short ballets, and a dramatization of the Book of Job. Classes in the school of dance include instruction in classical ballet, ethnic and modern dancing.
in Polished Performances
Relaxation, Classes, and
Not all of the students' time is taken up with practice. Time is needed by Jordan students, as with all students, for relaxation, classes and study.

The lounge at Lilly Hall is a convenient place for Jordan students to meet their friends. Professors, too, cannot seem to stay away from the lounge. Last Christmas radio students sponsored a Christmas party in the lounge for all music students to help draw them closer together.

Classes in Lilly Hall's bright rooms cover a great many areas. Speech, music and dance history, culture, music theory, and methods courses for music education majors are taught as well as courses in the individual student's own department.

Students at Lilly Hall also have their own music library where a bust of Beethoven regards them as they study their music and other subjects or as they discuss their classes with their friends.
The Butler University College of Pharmacy is one of the leading pharmacy colleges in the middle-west in instruction of radio-isotope work. The machines being demonstrated by the women in these pictures are only part of the total laboratory equipment valued at $60,000. The laboratory is set up to handle a maximum of twenty students. The courses offered in the radio-isotope laboratory are Radio-Isotope Techniques I and II, which are both elective courses for seniors and graduate students. A new course called Health Physics which is concerned with radiological control procedures is to be offered next year.
Offers Professional Career

Pharmacy is the profession concerned with the art and science of preparing from natural and synthetic sources suitable and convenient materials for use in the diagnosis, treatment, and prevention of disease. It embraces a knowledge of the identification, selection, pharmacologic action, preservation, combination, analysis and standardization of drugs. It also includes proper and safe distribution and use of drugs.

The major fields of pharmaceutical sciences are pharmacy, pharmaceutical chemistry, pharmacognosy, and pharmacology. According to a booklet on the pharmaceutical sciences compiled and edited under the direction of Karl L. Kaufman, Dean, College of Pharmacy at Butler University, pharmaceutical chemistry emphasizes the application of chemistry of all types to research, production and use in prevention, diagnosis and treatment of disease. Pharmacology includes the application of biological principles in the search for new drugs, their testing and control. Pharmacognosy emphasizes the application of chemical and biological principles in the study of drugs of biological origin.

Dale Worley and Tery Rudy perform an experiment concerned with diffusion and osmosis in physiology lab.

The guinea pig, an ordinary kind of experimental animal, is being coddled by future pharmacists Debbie Staiger and Phil Blazevich.
Art can be defined in many ways. One interpretation is the application of skill and taste to production according to aesthetic principles. Specifically it is application to the production of beauty by imitation or design. With this goal in mind, the John Herron Art Institute offers a well-balanced curriculum to encourage the student's development in all fields of art. Courses include fine and commercial art, three-dimensional design, portrait and still-life oil painting, sculpture, and fashion and magazine illustration.

With this excellent background, Herron students have gone on to be recognized leaders in several forms of art. For example, a Herron pupil recently won the Indianapolis city flag designing contest.

As a school the Herron Institute grants its own Art Education degrees, besides developing the talents of those desiring art careers other than teaching. Also, through a special co-operative program with Butler University, Herron gives degrees to Butler students preparing for careers as art instructors.

Pastel portrait work involves using a live model.

Bust sculpture requires time and patience.
A sea of black, and
Pomp and circumstance,
Are always the same, yet a little different.

For the sea is an individual thing,
Formed of separate waves:
Waves born in the depths of learning,
Waves which must abandon the sea of black
To beat the rocks of life.

And so it happens—year after year.

These are faces of dedicated professors. They represent scholarship. They are leaders whose interests pivot around academic accomplishment. Their faces express warmth and intelligence and discipline. Their eyes are alive with knowledge and expression. From their mouths come words of experience. Their lives are interesting and varied. And their personalities show in their faces—their fascinating faces.

Faculty Administration
Our Board of Trustees strives to maintain and uphold the standards and purposes of Butler University. This purpose, as adopted by the Board, is as follows:

"To establish, found, maintain, and perpetuate an institution of learning of the highest class, for the education of the youth of all parts of the United States, and especially of the states of the Northwest; to establish in said institution departments or colleges for the instructing of the students in every branch of liberal and professional education; to educate and prepare suitable teachers for the common schools of the country; to teach and inculcate the Christian faith and Christian morality, as taught in the sacred Scriptures; and to promote the sciences and arts."

"The University is dedicated to the Christian and liberal education of undergraduates and graduate men and women in courses of general and professional study."

By holding regular meetings, discussions, and individual conferences, they work to continually fulfill this purpose. The Board of Trustees has been instrumental in the development of our university.
Directors Assist Students

Dean David M. Silver

The College of Liberal Arts and Sciences, the largest senior college, is headed by Dr. Silver, author of Lincoln's Supreme Court. The recipient of a Butler Faculty Fellowship, Dr. Silver also received the J. I. Holcomb Faculty award in 1955. The award is given annually at Butler to the faculty member deemed to have made the greatest contribution to the university. As a professor of history and political science, his activities in this field are highlighted when he and his family visit each year a different historical site. Locally he has served in city government for several years. At home the Dean enjoys his hobbies of gardening and carpentry.

Paul D. Hinkle

Known to students and all of Indianapolis as “Tony,” the head coach of three sports, basketball, football, and baseball, has accumulated over 900 victories including many undefeated seasons and I.C.C. crowns. Tony came to Butler in 1921 as assistant basketball coach, and in 1926 he “took the reins on his own.” Now in his 43rd year at Butler, he has become a living legend of achievement and never-ceasing work.

Dean Karl L. Kaufman

Dean of the College of Pharmacy, Dr. Kaufman has had experience in pharmaceutical practice, teaching, and consulting. As a member of pharmacy honoraries, he has received various awards and honors, including numerous offices and positions of responsibility. In addition to being co-author of a textbook and contributor to the World Book Encyclopedia, he has scientific, historical, and educational papers in publication. Dean Kaufman believes that extracurricular activities broaden the individual’s experience and contribute to his interests and accomplishments.
Directors Train Students

Dr. David R. Roberts

Since 1955, Dr. Roberts has been Dean of the College of Business Administration and professor of economics. Before coming to Butler, he was a professor at the Carnegie Institute of Technology Graduate School of Industrial Administration. Governmental positions Dr. Roberts has held are the U. S. Bureau of the Budget Consultant in Washington, D. C., the U. S. Department of Commerce Economic Analyst, and the Consultant for National Security Resources Board. One of his outside interests as a source of relaxation is gardening.

Dr. J. Hartt Walsh

Dr. Walsh, Dean of the College of Education, has had published magazine articles, military papers, and several monographs. He has been an Editorial Consultant for Child Life Magazine and has held offices in educational associations. Prior to becoming a dean at Butler, he has served as principal of two junior and senior high schools. He has taught physics, mathematics, and history. A particular hobby, in addition to his educational work, is photography.

Dr. J.K. Ehlcrt

As head of the Jordan College of Music, Dr. Ehlcrt directs the departments of dance, drama, music, and radio. His school provides a medium for advancement and new appointments. They are as follows: Dr. John MacCormack, assistant professor of music; Richard Osborne, instructor in music; Dr. Michael Semanitzky, associate professor of music and conductor of university orchestras; Dr. Philip M. Slates, associate professor of theory; Frank Cooper, instructor in piano; Miss Margaret E. Jones, instructor in dance; and Miss Judith Joseph, instructor in dance. Dean Ehlcrt received his Ed.D. from the University of Colorado. His daughter Sally is on the staff at the University of Illinois. She works in the annual research clinic, which is devoted to experimental surgery. Sally is a Butler University graduate.
Dr. Christo T. Mocas

Dr. Mocas, Director of the Evening Division, has been at Butler since 1947. During wartime he served in the Military Intelligence Service and collaborated in the writing of books of foreign maps for the Service. Foreign maps have since become one of his hobbies in addition to lexicography, the study of dictionaries. His scholarly interests are also focused on 16th Century Spanish literature, closely related to his teaching of Spanish at Butler. The lighter side of this former basketball player’s hobbies includes “spectator” and participation sports.

Dr. Clide E. Aldrich

Dr. Aldrich, head of both the modern foreign language department and the graduate division, assumed a post in the language department at DePauw University upon college graduation, and soon thereafter joined the staff at Butler University. He did graduate work abroad at the University of Grenoble, Grenoble, France. His hobbies include bridge-playing, reading, amateur carpentry, and mechanics. Perhaps best known to the students are his tapes for the language department.

Dr. Roland G. Usher

Dr. Usher, Director of the University College for 10 years, guides students through their freshman and sophomore years before entering a senior college. In addition to being Director, Dr. Usher is an associate professor of history and political science. In order to remain abreast with new developments, he continually reads in his teaching field. Some of his activities include carpentry and “do-it-yourself” work in his home. He tries to assist his wife in her hobby of sculpture. Under his direction, the University College has issued many technical publications. Dr. Usher strives to maintain the improvement of the university as well as the education of the students.
Mrs. Elizabeth Durflinger, Dean of Women, is an outstanding leader of the university. The responsibility of guiding and advising every woman student rests with her. She serves as coordinator of the Panhellenic Council, the governing body of Greek women's organizations. In acting as a guide, she directs the Association of Women Students' House Council, the body which forms housing policies for Butler women. She serves on the Men's and Women's Advisory Boards and other student aid committees. In addition to her duties as a dean, Dr. Durflinger is a professor of zoology.

Mrs. James Marlowe, assistant to the Dean of Women, is a Butler graduate. Her duties include overseeing the office records, aiding students with permits, identification cards, and other correspondence matters.
Help Plan Activities

Serving as Dean of Men since September, 1957, Herbert F. Schwomeyer has a wide and varied background. He has been both teacher and athletic coach at the high school level. Here at Butler, prior to the position of Dean, he served as professor of education, instructor in physical education, and student advisor.

His hobbies include photography of family and university activities, speaking engagements, and participation in sports. Each spring he assists with the telecast of the Indiana High School Athletic Association tournaments. The Dean refers to these activities as the “fun spots of my life.”

Mrs. Madge Ingram, assistant to the Dean of Men, serves as aid to the Dean with the office’s activities. Mrs. Ingram is a DePauw University graduate, one of whose major interests is the welfare of the student.
College of Liberal English

Butler’s English department, along with being one of the largest in the College of Liberal Arts, offers many advantages to students. Each year cash awards are given in the fields of short story, poetry, drama, and essay. In addition, the department sponsors the MSS publication, which allows students to express themselves through their writings. Any English major attaining a 3.00 accumulative average may be eligible for membership in the English honorary society Sigma Tau Delta.

Dr. Cary B. Graham, as head of the English department, guides students and faculty members in one phase of education offered at Butler.

The faculty of this college have attained knowledge and honors from varied institutions and societies throughout the world. Several professors have travelled to and gained knowledge from interesting and unusual places. Others have broadened their experiences through leadership in professional societies and in student organizations.
In order to provide a cultural background, the professors in the classical and modern foreign language departments offer opportunities for the student to gain knowledge of both grammatical facts, national literature, and developmental history of the countries.

Dr. Cripe, head of the speech department, has served as the President of Tau Kappa Alpha-Delta Sigma Rho society.

The activities of the speech faculty carry them far beyond the classroom. Every speech professor is a published author. The Speech department is perhaps best known for its debate team, which annually participates in several regional and national tournaments. In recent years the department has gained national recognition for excellence in debate.

Dr. Nicholas Cripe
Professors in the physical sciences of physics and chemistry instruct students in the use of the scientific method and skills, providing students with an opportunity for cultural learning and practical application.

FIRST ROW: Dr. William Bessey, Dr. Keith Seymour, D. Paul Quinney. SECOND ROW: Dr. Ralph Birdwhistell, Dr. Marshall Dixon, Dr. Sidney Kilsheimer.

Professors in the department of biological sciences, botany and zoology, provide an extensive study of the fundamentals of the natural world. Laboratory research projects initiated by the staff in both departments are evidence of the opportunities available to students.

Dr. Rex Webster, Dr. John Pelton, Professor Richard Pamplin.

Dr. Nathan Pearson, Mrs. May Iske, Dr. Murrill Lowry.

Botany lab work interests Jeff Lazo.
Almost every student enrolled in Butler will be taking at least one course in history. Whether that history is American, European, political science, or geography, the history department, headed by Dr. George Waller, offers its students a wide range of knowledge. As an indication of its success, the department has graduated many students who have entered political and governmental fields. The knowledge gained in a history class is applicable, and in order for it to be of worth it must be applied to various aspects of life. This application is continually stressed by the history and political science staff.

(below) The faculty of the mathematics department, headed by Dr. Crull, endeavors to guide their students in the study of math for a liberal education by technical, skilled preparation. The professors exemplify knowledge, aptitudes, and interest as they train each student in the abstract area of mathematics. Courses of astronomy are highly specialized and beneficial to students. The presence of the J. I. Holcomb Observatory on the campus is an added feature for the use of mathematics and astronomy majors.
In accordance with the purpose of Butler University, which stresses the importance of a Christian education, the professors of the religion department, Dr. Andry and Assistant Professor Reisinger, maintain and enhance the religious aspects of our life and activities.

Both the men's and the women's departments of physical education offer training in physical skills and activities to every student. Both staffs provide classes in competitive areas of sports for the first two years for all students, and offer several upper-division courses for education majors.

The Air Force Reserve Officer Training Corps, through extensive training and education, prepare Butler men for positions as career officers in the United States Air Force.

SECOND ROW: Sergeant Lyde, Sergeant Wilson, Sergeant Middleton. FIRST ROW: Captain Swensen, Colonel Arbogast, Professor of Air Science, Captain Bonnev.
The professors appearing on this page are leaders in areas of study which are vital in application to modern life. Miss Wohler, Dr. Clark, Dr. Hepler, and Dr. Peeling are heads of the following departments respectively: home economics, philosophy, psychology, and sociology. The many students enrolled in the various phases of these departments are guided by their professors in areas of discussion, research, field work, and extensive experiments.
Pharmacy

Butler's Pharmacy College is recognized as one of the leading institutions in the nation. Since its establishment as a part of the University in 1945, the college has added an atmosphere of scholarly and technical endeavor to the campus. Possessing a long list of professional achievements, the faculty direct their students in the lab, classroom, and in thesis work, encouraging research and development.

Business

The College of Business Administration strives to develop practical and analytical abilities within the students. Under the direction of Dean Roberts, the college serves in teaching and training students for their future responsibilities of their chosen profession in the business world.

The three major objectives of the College of Business Administration are: 1. to develop a breadth of knowledge and understanding which marks the educated man; 2. to give a grasp of analytical tools; and 3. to develop a scientific problem-solving approach to business.
Education

Butler University's College of Education, led by Dean Walsh, offers faculty and laboratory training to prospective teachers. Students may prepare to teach on the secondary, elementary, or many specialized levels of education. Over one-half of the teachers in Indianapolis are graduates of this senior college.

Among the many achievements of the men and women on the faculty are authorships of books and articles published in several languages, offices of leadership in professional organizations, and other accomplishments in fields of music and literature. Dr. Coulson, an educational psychologist, gives free counseling services to all Butler students.
Jordan College of Music consists of the departments of dance, radio-television, drama, and vocal and instrumental music. Established in 1895, Jordan merged with Butler in 1951 and moved onto the campus proper in 1963. Here students become familiar with many phases of theatrical work, both behind the scenes and before an audience.

Dr. John Gates, solo pianist for the Indianapolis Philharmonic Orchestra, is a Butler graduate. He achieved his doctorate at Florida State University. Well-known and liked by the students, Dr. Gates teaches, practices, performs, and spends his leisure time driving a bright red Triumph sports car.
Through drama productions, ballets, and recitals, the college gives its students professional training while in turn it provides the University with culture, as is stated in its purpose: "In all performance fields there must be a concept of excellence which is entirely professional. There is no happiness or satisfaction in careless, uninspired mediocrity. Every student must have a willingness and a desire to excel. To this fundamental concept of excellence there is added a recognition of the fact that success requires a broad background of knowledge and a capacity to understand and work with people."
Administration

Although not pictured in its entirety, the administrative staff has the job of directing the academic program. In addition to its job as the coordinating agency of all the departments in the university, it determines the general regulations of the campus. The staff positions include that of President, Deans of the various colleges, Directors of Atherton Center, Public Relations, Buildings and Grounds, Admissions; the Librarian, Registrar, Bursar, Post Mistress, Physician, Nurse, and many other posts that serve as an integral part of the life of the university. The responsibilities of these university leaders have been extended by the addition of Clowes Memorial Hall and the new library. The Student-Administration Committee, with the aid of Student Council, combined efforts in sending representatives from Butler to the General Electric College.
The Alumni Office is the link between Butler University and her alumni. Hal Wilkins is Alumni Director of the University, as well as Secretary-Treasurer of the Alumni Association, while Joanna Michael is Assistant Director and Marjorie Flickinger is the office secretary.

The aims of the Alumni Association, which was established in 1954 as a non-profit organization, are to keep alumni in touch with the University and encourage their active support of alumni and University programs. All persons who have completed 64 hours of credit at Butler are automatically members of the Association. As members, they receive The Butler Alumnus, as well as announcements concerning Homecoming, Alumni Day, and other University activities.

Each fall graduates are given a direct voice in the operation of the University when they elect an alumnus to the Board of Trustees. This election, conducted each year by the Alumni Office, puts an alumnus on the Board for a three-year term. There are three alumni-elected trustees.

Alphabetical record files for all 18,000 Butler alumni are kept in the Alumni Office. Records Secretary Virginia Wiesen makes approximately 7,000 additions, changes, and deletions of these files each year.

One of the main jobs of the Alumni Association is raising money for the University. The Alumni Office handles this through personal solicitation, direct mail, and telephone contacts, and raised over $50,000 for the University last year. Fund Secretary Jean Hamilton handles all of the financial transactions in the office.

The Alumni Office also plans and operates such events as Alumni Day and “Operation Outstanding” in the spring, the Alumni-Senior Breakfast during Commencement weekend, and acts as the advising office for Homecoming plans in the fall.

Each year the Butler Medal, the highest award given by the Alumni Association, is presented to alumni or friends for distinguished service to the University. Last year at Alumni Day the Medal was awarded to Butler professor Dr. Nathan Pearson, and posthumously to Butler alumnus Angelo Angelopolous.

Butler University has active or potential alumni clubs in the following areas: In Indiana—Anderson, Columbus, Evansville, Fort Wayne, Kokomo, Muncie, New Castle, Richmond, South Bend, and Terre Haute; out-of-state: Atlanta; Northern and Southern California; Cincinnati, Cleveland, and Columbus, Ohio; Chicago; Denver; Detroit; central and western Florida; New York; Philadelphia; Phoenix and Tucson, Arizona; and Washington, D.C.

Hal Wilkins, Alumni Director and Sec.-Treas. of the Alumni Association.

Joanna Michael, Assistant Alumni Director

The Alumni Association
The pulsating rhythm of campus life stems from these cohesive groups known as organizations. They are the core from which ideas first become known and then branch out to engulf the students, bringing them into a unit which works and plays together.

Organizations may be seen entering into every aspect of the student's life. He both adds to and acquires from groups those qualities which enable him to live in harmony with his fellow man. Organizations are made for the individual, and the individual is the cornerstone of the organization.

Organizations
Student Council Minutes
1963-1964
Mortar Board, senior women’s honorary, is composed of those senior girls who have a 2.9 accumulative average and exhibit outstanding qualities of leadership and service to their school.

Mortar Board, in cooperation with Blue Key honorary, sponsors the activities of Homecoming Weekend. The honorary also conducts a course evaluation survey for the benefit of both the students and faculty. “Scholarship Day,” also a Mortar Board project, provides an opportunity for all high school students receiving a Butler scholarship to become acquainted with the campus. They also award a scholarship to a freshman girl for use during her sophomore year. In the spring Mortar Board and Blue Key again sponsor a dance, the Keyboard Kotillion.

Helping Mortar Board members carry out their many activities are their advisors Mrs. May Iske, Mrs. Alexander E. Jones, and Miss Wilma Wohler.
Blue Key National Honor Fraternity is the scholastic and activities honorary organization for senior men. Not only is the attainment of a 2.5 scholastic average necessary, but also the participation in campus activities is a prime requirement. The purposes of Blue Key are to foster the ambition for intellectual attainment, to study student problems, and to promote the progress and best interests of Butler University.

Mortar Board and Blue Key combine forces to sponsor such important campus events as the entire Homecoming Weekend (in conjunction with the Alumni Office), the Keyboard Kotillion in the spring, and a booth at the Student Council Activities Fair.

Blue Key's faculty advisor is Mr. Hal Wilkins.
Chimes was founded to honor junior women who have shown qualities of leadership and service to their university. Their motto is: To lead with knowledge, to follow with intelligence, to seek the worthwhile in-life. Members of Chimes work for higher ideals of leadership, service, and scholarship among college women.

The colors of Chimes are gold, white, and dark brown. During the school year, Chimes members can be identified by their brown skirts and gold blouses. The pin of Chimes is a small golden bell with a cluster of three pearls forming the clapper.

Membership in Chimes requires a minimum cumulative average of 2.75, active participation in campus activities, and junior standing. A year of Chimes membership is highlighted by the sale of taffy apples at football games, a booth at the Activities Fair, participation in Homecoming events, a Christmas project, and the announcement of new members in the spring.
Sphinx

Sphinx, an honorary for junior men, serves to promote junior class unity and activity for the good of the University. It strives to acquaint sophomores with the activities of the juniors and to further better harmony and understanding among all campus organizations, both fraternal and non-fraternal. Another goal is to act as a guiding organization on all constructive school functions.

In pursuing their goals, the members of Sphinx sponsor a basketball booth at S.C.A.F. Other functions include direction of the annual greased pole fight and the bonfire events of the Homecoming program. In addition, Sphinx organizes pep sessions before football and basketball games and sponsors the annual football banquet.

Prospective members of Sphinx must have maintained at least a 2.5 grade average, must have been active in campus organizations—social, scholastic, and service—and show a high degree of initiative, industry, and constructive leadership.

Dale Worley led Sphinx as president. Assisting him were George Leininger, vice-president; Craig Pinkus, secretary; and Mike Herman, treasurer. Dr. Robert C. Gilpin served as faculty advisor.

Spurs

Spurs is the national honorary organization for sophomore women. Along with an accumulative average of 2.5 and a record of outstanding service to the University through an active interest in at least five campus activities, a candidate for Spurs must possess the qualities of honesty, unselfishness, and loyalty.

Qualified girls are elected to Spurs during the second semester of their freshman year. New members are announced each year at Spring Sing.

Sporting the white uniforms and blue emblems, members of Spurs sold chrysanthemums at the Homecoming game. At Christmas Spurs supported the Path-of-Pennies project for a charity organization.

The purposes of the organization are to promote school spirit, to support all activities in which the student body participates, and to uphold all the traditions of the University.

The officers were as follows: Sallyann Polivka, president; Barbara Rickman, vice-president; Kaye Higgs, secretary; Gayle Augustine, treasurer; Nancy Riggs, historian; and Karen Klink, editor.
Utes

Utes set up a booth at the Student Council Activities Fair.

Tom Schulz, treasurer, Mike Cook, president, and Bob Cargill, secretary, helped carry out the activities of Utes.

Utes, the sophomore men’s honorary, strives to enforce University tradition and to further service to the University which it deems necessary. The members of Utes encourage scholarship and leadership among the sophomore men.

The requirements for membership in Utes are a 2.5 grade average and participation in a stated number of extra-curricular activities. Members are elected to Utes during the second semester of their freshmen year.

Utes started a new activity this year when they sponsored a free dance in the C-Club the night before the Homecoming football game. Also, the members of Utes organized and directed the basketball banquet in the spring. Early in the year they participated in S.C.A.F.

Mike Cook served as president of Utes. Other officers were Jim Kutschke, vice president; Bob Cargill, secretary; and Tom Schulz, treasurer. Dr. Gilpin was their faculty advisor this year.

Membership in Alpha Lambda Delta, national scholastic honorary organization, is awarded to those women who attain an average of 3.5 during their freshman year. The purpose of the organization is to promote intelligent living and to encourage scholastic achievement among freshmen women.

In the fall the group, along with Phi Eta Sigma, sponsored a reception in the Holcomb Garden House for promising freshmen students. Monthly luncheon meetings and participation in S.C.A.F. are other activities.

The officers were Pam Lassiter, president; Mary Sue Stranahan, vice-president; Kaye Higgs, secretary; and Ginny Gould, treasurer. Miss Nancy Moore served as faculty advisor and Sarah Jane Smith was junior advisor.

Phi Eta Sigma is a national honorary existing to recognize freshman men who make a grade average of 3.5 or higher. The organization engages in activities designed to advance a high standard of learning on the campus and to encourage scholastic attainment among freshmen men. While prospective members are selected during their freshman year, membership in Phi Eta Sigma continues throughout one's campus career.

In the early fall, Phi Eta Sigma and Alpha Lambda Delta co-sponsored a reception in the Holcomb Garden House for scholarship-interested students.

Alan Monroe served as president while William Neher assisted him as vice-president. Dr. Usher was their advisor. Missing are Dave Benson, Terry Cooper, George Leininger, Gary Meunier, Michael Murphy, Ben Newberry, Ron Satterfield, James Williams.

Dr. Roland Usher plans program with Phi Eta Sigma officers.

Bob Bereman, Joel Hirsch, secretary, Dr. Usher, Craig Pinkus, Duncan Haynes, Alan Monroe, Dave Foreman, Bill Neher, and John Frazier.
Delta Psi Kappa and Pemm Club Organized
For Physical Education Majors and Minors

Delta Psi Kappa is a national honorary for physical education majors and minors. The purpose of the organization is to promote interest in physical education, health, and recreation programs. Membership qualifications are a 2.5 grade-point average, good character, and 32 completed hours in academic work. It invites to membership such persons as exhibit commendable personal qualities, worthy educational ideals, and sound scholarship. The society endeavors to maintain a high degree of professional fellowship among its members.

Judy Fisher served as president of Delta Psi Kappa. Assisting her were Sue Eagleson, vice-president; Judy Taylor, secretary; and Linda Hall, treasurer. Miss Sarah Hope served as faculty advisor.

Pemm Club is made up of Physical education majors and minors. Its purpose is to promote a professional and social interest in health, physical education, and recreation.

Pemm Club sponsored a party at the Garden House for all physical education majors and minors. Other projects included selling refreshments at basketball games and selling doughnuts to students working on house decorations for homecoming.

The officers were Barbara Rice, president; Joan Rasmussen, vice-president; Carol Reynolds, secretary; and Janet Campbell, treasurer.
Student Council Contributes to

Jack Glazier, Craig Pinkus, Phyllis Gorfain, and Alan Monroe, the final four of the Butler G. E. College Bowl team, are rehearsing before the game on December 15, 1963. In the pre-playoff session Butler beat Bowdoin College by better than 200 points. But between 5:00 and 5:30 when the teams appeared on television, Butler lost to Bowdoin 345-150.

The Council sponsors diversified activities. Here a student is participating in the Blood Drive which the organization has run for the last several years.

Spurs member shows action at the Student Council Activities Fair.
The Student Council is the governing body and serves as the "students' voice." The Council annually publishes the Gavel, a combination datebook and assignment recorder. Supervision of the election of class officers and the Homecoming queen fall into the jurisdiction of the Council. The Activities Fair, sponsored by the Student Council, is designed to acquaint students with various campus activities.

Student Council was instrumental in bringing about a change in women's hours. Another project of this organization is the yearly blood drive for the Red Cross. The Council arranged for College Bowl participation by the University.

One representative from each housing unit and each college in the University compose the membership of the Council.
The Butler Collegian, the University’s student newspaper, is a semi-weekly publication prepared by the journalism department. The Collegian office provides students with opportunities for laboratory experience.

The office and print shop are located in the basement of Jordan Hall. Here the staff of twenty-two students work, writing and editing copy. Features of the paper include Butler news, sports, national and international news which helps to keep the students well informed.

Outstanding among this year’s newspapers were the Homecoming issue, the Clowes Memorial issue, and the special issue on the assassination of the late President.

A.W.S. Governs Butler Women

The Association of Women Students is the largest student women's organization, with practically every full-time student belonging. It is the governing body for the women on campus, and, as such, sponsors the House Council, whose purpose is to formulate and enforce all rules and regulations concerning residence requirements of university women.

A.W.S. has a summer counseling program for freshman women. To introduce these college novices to campus life, A.W.S. held a Freshman Party at the beginning of the school year. Each year A.W.S. publishes "Coed Codes," a booklet with hints toward academic and social success.

Mass meetings were held each month and programs varied from skits by new students to movies and lectures. Besides participating in S.C.A.F., the members annually award a $100 scholarship to a senior girl who shows merit in activities and scholarship and has no other scholarship. This year A.W.S. helped defer expenses for Vibeke Rask, a Danish student attending Butler.

The Student National Education Association is made up of students preparing for the teaching profession in elementary and secondary education. The purpose of the organization is to acquaint teachers in training with the history, ethics, and to give them practical experience in working together on problems of the profession and the community.

A Christmas party for a classroom of underprivileged children was one of the 1964 projects of SNEA. The members sold candied apples to raise funds, helped as hosts for the state teachers' convention, and held mock interviews for aspiring teaching applicants.

The officers were Susie McGraw, pres.; Anne Hill, v-pres.; Nancy Lepanen, sec.; Nancy Wagoner, treas.; Cyndy Ferkes, membership chm.; Kathy McMillin, editor; Pam Ruggieri, historian.
Junior Panhellenic Association is the governing body for the pledge classes as Senior Panhellenic Association governs all sorority functions.

Senior Panhel started a Junior Panhellenic Scholarship Trophy for the pledge class with the highest average.

Senior Panhel prints two publications: "Sorority Guide," a pictorial guide about each sorority, and "Rules and Regulations." These are distributed to each rushee or prospective student interested in Greek life.

Greek Week provides the funds for rush week. Also in the week for the Greeks, activities are scheduled to bring the Greeks together, such as mock line-ups, exchange dinners, slumber parties, serenades, rush parties, climaxed by the faculty auction, which turns its funds over to the Angelopolous Cancer Fund. Another climactic event is the Panhel Dance. This year Gary Meunier, Tau Kappa Epsilon, was crowned as Panhel King.

Officers Marsha LeBoeuf, Linda Westrich, and Joan Rasmussen pore over strategic plans for Greek Week.
To Promote Greek Spirit

The Interfraternity Council is composed of one officer from each fraternity at Butler. The council strives to unite the campus fraternities to work cooperatively. Its members set up rush rules and regulate the scholarship reports among the fraternal organizations.

In the fall, the group sold to the freshmen their green beanies. They also worked with the Panhellenic Council to promote Greek Week.

In December of last year the Council sent Ed Edge and Dean Herbert F. Schwomeyer, advisor, to New York City for the National Interfraternity Conference.

The officers for the year were Bob Zoccola, president; Ed Edge, vice-president; Gary Meunier, treasurer; and Frank Lewis, secretary.
Jr. Panhellenic and Welwyn Club

The officers are as follows: Kathy Nedele, president; Marla Lantz, vice-president; Connie Nelson, secretary; and Shannon Kelly, treasurer.

(below) Welwyn Club is primarily for home economic majors and minors. It is a member of the state Home Economic College Clubs of Indiana. Barb Bruder served as president for the 1963-4 school year. Barb was assisted by Joyce Bills, Marcia Meyers, Kathy Andry, and Karen Sylvester. Mrs. Sara Porter aids the girls in many ways as faculty advisor.
YWCA and YMCA Promote Christian Fellowship

The Young Women's Christian Association and the Young Men's Christian Association are among the most active campus organizations. Their purpose is to promote Christian fellowship and offer service to Butler.

Among the activities sponsored by the organization are the Freshman Mixer, Geneva Stunts, and Spring Sing. The publication of the Blue Book, a faculty and student directory, is also an annual project. In the spring each year an Honor Day award is given to the outstanding man and woman.

Mr. John Pihiak was YM-YWCA sponsor. Jenny Hair served as president. Assisting her were Rita Jo Butz, vice-president; Judy Henthorn, secretary; Cyndi Miller, treasurer. The officers of YMCA were as follows: Bob Wright, president; Tim Russell, vice-president; Tom Williams, secretary; and Rich Florence, treasurer.
Young Republicans

An active Young Republicans Organization has sponsored the following speakers this year: Barry Goldwater, Jr.; the Honorable Judge Sharp of Municipal Court No. 4, Indianapolis; Dr. Fred Schwartz, Director of the Christian Anti-Communist Crusade; Charles Hendricks, Secretary of State of Indiana and running for governor in the 1964 elections; and Don Tabbert, running for the 11th district delegate to the United States House of Representatives. The purpose of sponsoring projects such as having speakers, going to Midwest Republican conventions, and working at the May primaries is to acquaint students with the Republican party’s beliefs and to create a better-than-average interest in the party. Each year Young Republicans gives a Political Awareness Award to the sorority or fraternity which shows the most interest. Delta Gamma Sorority has won the trophy for the last two years. Officers are President Trudy Slaby; Tom Farnam, vice-president; Dianne Lamar, recording secretary; Carolyn McCoy, corresponding secretary; Alan Monroe, treasurer; Sally Frauman and Dana Carter, membership chairmen; and Suzi DeBoy, public relations. Chris Theofanis is the group’s sponsor.
Y.D.'s Contribute To Political Awareness

The Butler Young Democrats contributed to campus political awareness this year by sponsoring a wide variety of interesting speakers and programs. Among the speakers were Mrs. Osma Spurlock, Indiana Civil Rights Commission; Mr. Edwin Lukas, American Jewish Committee; and Mayor-elect of Indianapolis, Hon. John J. Barton. Films and a successful debate were also sponsored by the club.

Officers of the 125-member Butler club were Phyllis Gorfain, president; Jay Ward, vice-president; Judy Utterback, recording sect.; Susie Puett, corres. sect.; and Stan Patton, treas.

The Butler Independent Student's Association provides for the non-affiliated students an opportunity to be independent yet active in campus activities.

This year the organization participated in intra-murals, SCAF, Homecoming, student elections, and Student Council. Three members of BISA represented Butler on the College Bowl program. BISA officers were Phil Shelton, president; Alan Monroe, vice-president; Ann Cox, secretary; and Gene Maresca, treasurer. Dr. William Cupp, Major F. E. Arlogast, and Dr. Archie Nichols assisted the group as sponsors.

B.I.S.A. Serves Independent Students
Now in its fifteenth year of operation, W.A.J.C. maintains its distinction as the nation's largest student-operated FM station. With a 400 foot tower (see opposite page) and a 40,000 watt signal, W.A.J.C.'s coverage pattern extends into surrounding states, affording students in the department of radio and television at Butler the opportunity of professional experience and high quality instruction.

As the Indianapolis' area pioneer FM station, it maintains a position of prominence not only in the local industry, but also throughout broadcasting circles across the country. The station's graduates are found in all fields of radio and television broadcasting as well as promotion and advertising fields.

The department of radio and television offers a complete curriculum of courses designed to prepare the student for his or her vocation as a personality in the field of communications.
The 210th AFROTC Detachment at Butler is one of the 186 detachments on our nation's campuses with a mission to select, motivate, and educate new officers for active duty service in the U.S. Air Force. The four-year program is divided into a basic course (freshman and sophomore level) and an advanced course (junior and senior level). A cadet selected for the advanced course receives a $27 a month subsistence allowance during the school year. During the summer between his junior and senior years, he attends a four-week summer training camp at an Air Force base. The curriculum for the college program is designed to develop an understanding of the Air Force's role in our nation's defense and a working knowledge of the requirements associated with commissioned service and Air Force leadership.

The 1963-64 school year brought a host of new activities to the 210th Detachment under the command of Lt. Col. F. E. Arbogast, Professor of Air Science. Two hundred members of the cadet corps were invited to participate in the Clowes Hall opening. A new social function was added in the form of a Fall Dance held on the Lilly Hall patio, at which Air Angel Dee Hunt and her court were announced. The fifteenth annual Military Ball was held during the spring semester.

The group Commander for the fall semester was cadet Col. David Van Bruaene. His staff of twelve cadets took charge of all Cadet Group functions.

M.S.M. Promotes Religious Ideals

M.S.M. is the student organization of the Methodist Church. Its objectives are to make the Christian faith relevant to college students in the twentieth century, and to participate in the world mission of the Church.

Officers this year were: Arthur Gifford, president; Julie Hanna, vice-president; Marcia Dickerson, secretary; Alan Monroe, treasurer. Dr. Elbert Cole of North Methodist Church served as director, while Mr. H. Ray Stevens assisted as faculty advisor.

Sigma Delta Pi seeks Spanish Understanding

Sigma Delta Pi is a national honorary. Its purpose is to "foment a wider knowledge of and a greater love for the Hispanic contributions to modern culture; to provide a nucleus for Spanish language student activities and regional meetings; to foster friendly relations and the cooperative spirit between the nations of Hispanic speech and of English; and to reward those who show special attainments and interests."

Officers interested in Spanish this year are Milton Whittaker, president; Judy Adlard, past-president; Paula Williams, vice-president; and Carol Kocher, secretary-treasurer.
Members of These Groups Combine Religion With Learning

The Student Religious Liberals, organized in the fall of 1962, bears the distinction of being the newest campus religious organization, as well as being one of the most active groups. The organization has sponsored speakers and organized discussions on civil rights, modern religious thought, church-state relationships, the political scene, and personal religious beliefs.

Although the Student Religious Liberals is loosely affiliated with the Unitarian Church, membership and participation is open to all students, and understanding all religious creeds is one of the goals of the organization. If there is one doctrine to which all of the group's members subscribe, it is that by opening to free inquiry all aspects of life can one become truly religious. Mutual aid in constructing personal religious philosophy is one of the goals of the organization.

Among the group's activities were sponsoring speeches by John G. MacKinnon, minister of All Soul's Unitarian Church; Edwin Lukas, civil rights attorney from New York; and James Barnhart, former president of the congregation of All Soul's Church.

The organization’s officers include Duncan Haynes, president; Bill Pelz, vice-president; Mary Andrews, secretary, and Pam Peirce, publicity chairman.

An interest in religion is the only requirement for membership in Icththus, an interdenominational organization. Its members meet to discuss problems and movements of the churches.

Icththus gets its name from the Greek word meaning "fish," which was the symbol for the early church. The initials of the Greek words meaning Jesus, Christ, God, Son of, and Savior, represent its letters.

Officers for the year were Ken Sullivan, president; Brian Witwer, vice-president, and Barb Seibert, secretary.

The Religious Council is composed of a delegate from each housing unit and a representative from most religious organizations.

The Council's activities this year included a panel discussion with representatives of various faiths and fireside chats, which served to make students more aware of the role religion plays in their lives.

The purpose of the Religious Council is to act as a coordinating body for the religious organizations to which Butler students belong and to help create a greater awareness of religion on the campus.

Officers for the year were Karen Klink, president; Brian Witwer, vice-president; Pam Ruggieri, recording secretary; Pam Lassiter, corresponding secretary; and Sharon Woodruff, treasurer. Dr. Andry served as faculty advisor.
Intercollegiate Debaters Compete With Top-Rated Teams in the Nation

Composed of 14 debaters and 2 coaches, the Butler debate squad participates extensively in tournaments throughout the Midwest. Each year trips to more distant areas are planned. Competing against schools from all parts of the United States, varsity debaters under the direction of Dr. Cripe have debated at: Purdue, Indiana State, Wake-Forest, Ball State, Ohio State, Eastern Illinois, DePauw, Northwestern, Notre Dame, Bowling Green, and I. U. The Novice squad under Dr. Gibson have participated at: Indiana State, Butler, Ball State, Purdue, and Bellarmine.

Butler, by debating the national topic, “Resolved: That the Federal Government should guarantee an Opportunity for Higher Education to all qualified High School Graduates,” had by the end of December, 1963, amassed a record of 28 wins and 7 losses for the fall semester. McGee (Jr.) and Neher (Soph.) brought home third-place trophies in the two major tournaments held before Christmas—Purdue and Wake-Forest. Six debaters combined to win the varsity division at Indiana State. The Novice foursome of Cook-Rohler-Smith and Haynes took 3rd at the Butler Novice meet.

In March, Butler hosted the TKA-DSR National Speech and Debate Tournament, the finest tournament in the country. Butler debaters enter into regional competition for the right to attend the other major national tournament at West Point.

ΣΤΔ Members Seek to Improve Our Language

Membership in Sigma Tau Delta, the national professional English fraternity, is extended to English majors and minors with an accumulative average of 3.0 and to upperclassmen maintaining the same average who have taken six hours of English beyond the freshman requirement and show continued interest in literature and writing.

The group's purpose is to promote improvement in the usage of the English language. Meetings, once a month, featured discussions and speakers on related topics consisted the group's activities.

Arthur Gifford served as president. Pam Ulery, was vice-president; Judy Henthorn, secretary; and Lydia Hildreth, treasurer.

Their faculty advisor for this year's activities has been Dr. Werner Beyer.
The Insurance Society was organized to invite outstanding financial leaders to present topics at various meetings in order to supplement educational materials and to evaluate principles and practices in the field of insurance. Gary Caldwell led the organization as president. Dr. Archie Nichols served as faculty advisor.

The Accounting Society’s schedule for the year was filled with several interesting field trips to local firms. Several professional men spoke at their regular meetings. Officers for the year were Mike Herman, president; Jim McFarland, vice-president; and Ted Neunschwander, secretary-treasurer. Professor Weber served as faculty advisor.
MSS

Issued semi-annually, "Manuscripts" is the literary publication of the English department. All material is submitted and selected by students. Clarity, creativity, and conciseness are the criteria for selection. Students in freshman English, creative writing, advanced composition, and writers' workshop provide most of the material for MSS. Both fiction and non-fiction material is included in the publication.

Representatives from freshman English classes judge freshman writings, while a staff of upperclass editors consider upperclass contributions. Suzette Brace served as upperclass editor, while Dianne Lamar edited the freshmen selections. Dr. Beyer and Dr. Marz were the faculty advisors.

S.A.M.

The Society for Advancement of Management, the recognized national professional organization of managers in industry, commerce, government and education, and the pioneer in management philosophy, has been dedicated to the advancement of management men.

S.A.M. strives to bring together executives in business and students preparing to go into business. Another objective of S.A.M. is to serve as an effective medium for the exchange and distribution of information on the problems, policies, and methods of management and industry. It also seeks to provide students with the opportunity to participate in the organizing, planning, directing, and controlling of the activities of an organization dedicated to the promotion and advancement of the art and science of management.
The Sports Council is the governing body of the Butler women’s intramural program. Each woman on the Council has charge of one sport in the overall program. The Council member along with Miss Jean Ann Bowers, faculty advisor, draws the pairings for the event, then continue to carry out organization for the participants. Following the event a report of the sport is related to the WRA body. In May, the WRA presentation of awards takes place.

The Advisory Board is the voting body of the WRA. Advisory Board is composed of two representatives from each organization. The Board submits a ballot for the coming year’s officers to be voted upon by all members.

The Alumni Association wishes to take this opportunity to congratulate the Senior Class on, and thank them for, their foresight in initiating a program of financial support for the University. The 1964 Senior Class Gift Fund will help to insure Butler’s progress and prosperity. This in indeed a “first” for any class, and an effort which will always be appreciated by the University.

The ultimate continuing strength of a university rests with its alumni . . . . They are keepers of the tradition, preferred stockholders of the enterprise, the mark of its accomplishment.

Worn for the first time by President Jones at his inauguration on February 7, 1964, the official Presidential Chain of Office symbolizes the triumph of learning in the affairs of man. Mr. James E. Bettis (left), ’40, President of the Alumni Association, is shown making the official presentation of the Chain of Office, a gift of the Alumni Association, to Mr. Harry T. Ice, ’26, Chairman of the Board of Trustees.

“Operation Outstanding,” the annual search of the Alumni Association for the outstanding students and professors at Butler, reaches its climax with the Student Recognition Banquet. Pictured above are the 1964 award winners: Dr. Clide E. Aldrich and Dr. Allegre Stewart, Outstanding Professor awards; Mr. James E. Bettis, President of the Alumni Association; and Karen Pelz and Craig Pinkas, recipients of the Outstanding Student awards.

Alumni Association
--Linked to the Past

THE BUTLER UNIVERSITY ALUMNI ASSOCIATION...
ALUMNI CENTERED... keeping you, as an alumnus, informed about the progress of the University through regular publications, alumni meetings and campus reunions. Your Association is constantly on the move—as is Butler University—searching for new ways to benefit the University, the students, and the alumni.

STUDENT MINDED... because the “good feeling” of an alumnus is directly proportional to his “good feeling” as a student. Hence, the student body of today—as the alumni of tomorrow—are of prime importance to the Alumni Office.

With the privilege of attending Butler comes the responsibility of representing and supporting her not only for a few years...but always. The Association is your link with the Butler of today and tomorrow.

You, as an alumnus of Butler, will certainly want to continue your ties with the University by attending alumni meetings which are held in major cities each year from coast to coast. Through Butler's nation-wide contact, your opportunities will increase for meeting new Butler friends. Pictured above at a recent Washington, D.C., area meeting are Hal Wilkins, '51, Alumni Director; Norman F. Bryant, '50, past president of the Alumni Association; Congressman Richard Roudebush, '41, president of the Washington club; and Paul D. "Tony" Hinkle. Congressman Roudebush's office serves as Butler's Washington headquarters.

Pictured above are several alumni being served at the buffet luncheon arranged each year by the Alumni Association for the day of the Homecoming game. Homecoming weekend in the fall, and Alumni Day in the spring, are occasions which find many alumni returning to campus to renew fond memories and acquaintances.

From student to profession—Butler is the link. With concentration, ambition, and a seriousness of purpose, Butler students receive and use an education of which they can be extremely proud. Professional pharmacist Joseph McSoley, '53, practices daily the profession for which the students at left are preparing.
The University Wind Ensemble and Symphonic Band

The University Wind Ensemble (above)

The Butler Wind Ensemble is composed of 42 students selected from the membership of the Symphonic Band. Instrumentation is flexible, affording the opportunity to study compositions from early chamber wind literature to the fully scored contemporary works. Dr. John Colbert is the Director.

This organization performed on the annual tour in the spring at Peru, Morton (Hammond), Crown Point, Kouts, Northern-Wells Community, and Pendleton High Schools, and at Goshen College.

The Wind Ensemble has had the distinction of performing, by invitation with the Ballet companies, for the Music Educators National Conference, North Central Convention.

The University Symphonic Band (below)

The University Symphonic Band performs, in concert, the finest literature representative of early and contemporary compositions.

This organization has performed for the past six years for the Indiana Bandmasters Association new music reading clinic. Concerts by invitation have been performed for the Indiana State Music Educators Association Convention, and the College Band Directors National Association Convention. Dr. John Colbert is the Director; James Stivers and James Ellis, Jr. are student assistants.
Pictured above are the Butler University Half Time Honeys in their annual precision show. This show involves all marching drills with no dancing—strictly military. Other halftime shows consist of segments from Broadway musicals, June Taylor show, Hit Parade, Twirling Show, Christmas Show, and many others. Choreography for this entertainment is done by individual members of the group. The Color Guard received the title “Half Time Honeys” from the Indianapolis Times reporter Jimmy Angelopoulos and Coach Tony Hinkle.

Each game involves a set pre-game, a different halftime show, and a post-game twirler. Most of the shows are produced with just a few days practice.

The Color Guard meets just one hour a day and may have as many as 2 or 3 shows to do in a week.

The Marching Band adds sound, color, and gaiety to each home basketball game and all football games. Its enthusiasm and pep blend so well with the games that the Marching Band seems to generate the same enthusiasm through the crowd. The Butler Marching Band puts on halftime shows at football games which are watched and admired by band leaders from several other schools. This show which features the Marching Band with the Color Guard is definitely a highlight at every Butler football game.

University Choirs Provide Musical Experience

Band Members of KKΨ and TBΣ Are Active

This year Alpha Beta chapter of Kappa Kappa Psi has sponsored several projects in support of the Marching Band. Their “artists” booth was very popular at the Student Council Activities Fair. They provided band sweatshirts for the band members, served a noon luncheon at the State Solo and Ensemble Contest, and published their annual magazine, THE WHITE SHAKO, for the Marching Band trip to the Shrine Bowl.

Alpha Beta also provided a plaque which was presented to the “outstanding” male member of the Marching Band at the annual fall banquet. An additional project was the construction of a new pin light by the pledge class.

This year the Butler Band was honored by a visit from the National Executive Secretary of Kappa Kappa Psi, Mr. Frank Martin, who found the group “growing in size and spirit.”

Tau Beta Sigma is a national honorary sorority for the women of the University Marching Band. The sorority has a booth each year at the Student Council Activities Fair and works with Kappa Kappa Psi within the Butler Marching Band.

Those eligible for membership must be members of the Marching Band or the Color Guard and must play a musical instrument. They must also have a “C” average or better.

Officers for the year were Georgia Grise, president; Jynell Woodruff, vice-president (pledge trainer); and Linda Westrich, treasurer.
Music Honoraries Sponsor Scholarship

Musicales and magazine sales are part of the activities of Mu Phi Epsilon, International Professional Women's Music Sorority. Its members participate in civic concerts, sponsor the Indianapolis Spring Chamber Music Series, and present awards for scholarship and for musicianship. This year Kappa chapter has again collected music to send to the Far East and has performed for the Indiana School for the Blind.

Membership for Mu Phi Epsilon is based on musicianship, scholarship, and character.

Officers are Lenore Colin, president; Nancy Henthorn, vice-president; Helen Shoemaker, recording secretary; Nancy Fletcher, corresponding secretary; and Marcia Dickerson, treasurer.

Sigma Alpha Iota is a professional women's music fraternity. Iota Zeta chapter membership is based on scholarship and outstanding musical ability. As a part of the program, Iota Zeta chapter gives musicales and recitals and offers scholarships to music women students.

Officers for the year who strive to encourage high scholarship and music discipline are Nancy Elmore, president; Penny Hendel, vice-president; Sharon Paulus, treasurer; Chris Kominiarek, corresponding secretary; Juliet Herron, editor; and Rochelle Galey, rush chairman.
Lambda Kappa Sigma Instills Interest In Pharmacy

Phi chapter of Lambda Kappa Sigma is a professional pharmacy organization. During the past year the members have carried out various projects. In October these women attended their national convention, and in April they served dinner for the Indiana High School Science Fair. The Pharmacy Building is headquarters for Lambda Kappa Sigma activities. Earlier this year they made candy and sold it to other pharmacy students. During American Pharmaceutical Association meetings the Phi chapter members served coffee. Pat Leerkamp served as president. Marcia Hanes, Mary Sweitzer, and Merle Williams were the other officers. Mrs. Melvin Weinswig sponsored the organization.

Phi Mu Alpha Sinfonia Is Nation's Largest Music Fraternity

Phi Mu Alpha-Sinfonia is the nation's largest music honorary fraternal organization. Alpha Sigma chapter is one of seven chapters located in Indiana. Butler's chapter presented a recital of ensemble music on February 21, in which all of the brothers performed. "To further the cause of American Music," was one of the chapter's aims during the year.
Alpha Phi Chapter of Phi Delta Chi is a national pharmaceutical fraternity organized to promote the pharmaceutical profession and to promote scholarship and fraternalism among its members. Several times each year Phi Delta Chi has window displays to promote National Pharmacy Week and other events. Also, semi-annually, Phi Delta Chi has a project to improve the pharmacy building in some manner. The pledges of the organization decorate a Christmas tree each year in the pharmacy building and in past years they have hung pharmaceutical paintings in the building. Professional jewelry is sold by the fraternity to earn money, and an annual Founders' Day Banquet is held as a reunion for the alumni.

Serving for the fraternity this year have been Dr. Dale Doerr, faculty advisor; Jay Gibbs, president; Bob Locke, vice-president; Al Fishburn, secretary; Ed Duncan, treasurer. Phi Delta Chi's goals are to provide a fraternal feeling among its members and to aid them in attaining a good education. Also, Phi Delta Chi strives to promote pharmacy as a profession and works to improve this profession.
Athletics at Butler is one of many campus themes. It takes ability and dedication to form our teams. Sweat and toil are just one phase. As study and practice go on for days. With victory as the ultimate quest. The Bulldogs compete to place among the best. Sport after sport the “Big Blue” come out on top. Season after season they become harder to stop. When the games are over and the crowds have left the campus, Hinkle and Butler still reign as champions.

The Bulldogs succumbed to a grinding offensive attack and an impeding defense in their first test of the gridiron campaign, falling to Morehead State 31-13 in the Ashland, Kentucky Shrine Bowl. Jim Belden and Dave Enright scored for the Bulldogs, with Captain and Little All-America candidate Lee Grimm playing an outstanding defensive game . . .

Outrushing the Ball State Cardinals 217-162 yards, the Bulldogs copped their second straight victory 13-0. Butler, faced with an excellent pass defense, was forced to stay on the ground most of the game. Bob Downham and Dick Dullaghan scored for the Bulldogs . . .

Tom Jones' sure toe led the Bulldogs to a 14-12 triumph over DePauw. Jones kicked both first balls and extra points, providing the margin of victory. The hard-hitting Butler defensive contingent forced five DePauw fumbles and intercepted two passes. Dick Dullaghan and Ron Adams scored.

Butler's fifth straight win under the direction of quarterback Ron Adams' passing and running attack, found the Bulldogs again the prime contender for their sixth straight conference title at the expense of the St. Joe Pumas. Adams contributed toward the 27-0 victory by completing 9 of 11 passes for two touchdowns, scoring one himself. An additional highlight in the game came in the first half when tackle Bud Krause recovered a blocked punt and scored his first touchdown . . .

Valparaiso became the Butler Bulldogs' fourth conference victim as the "Big Blue" won their sixth straight Indiana Collegiate Conference title, guided by the engineering of quarterback Ron Adams. Rich Florence took a pass from Adams in first quarter action that countered for a 50 yard touchdown play, and Ron Captain and Wes Thompson scored on plunges later in the game. With outstanding line play especially from Lee Grimm, the Bulldogs managed to sneak out with a 27-12 victory . . .

The Iron Key, symbol of the Butler-Wabash rivalry, remained at Butler this year as the Bulldogs downed the Little Giants 26-21.

Butler was paced by Jim Belden and Dick Dullaghan as the Bulldogs rushed for 312 yards and got a respectable 84 yards through the air. The defense allowed no touchdowns by rushing as all Wabash tallies came via the clouds . . .

Sharp defensive play, a touchdown by halfback Dick Dullaghan, and a game-winning extra point by place-kicking specialist Tom Jones, enabled the Bulldogs to slip past a determined Indiana State team 7-6 at Terre Haute. Butler tallied in the first quarter and saved the game when halfback Ron Captain knocked State quarterback Pat Tuttle out of bounds trying for a two point conversion in a desperation play . . .

Traveling to Evansville to conclude I.C.C. competition and preserve their undefeated conference record, the Bulldogs trounced the Aces 32-14 with a dazzling ground attack and alert defensive play. Pass interceptions by Rich Florence and Bill Torchia accounted for two touchdowns, and Captain, Downham, and Thompson also hit paydirt in the season's finale . . .
Top Dogs
The 1964 Bulldog Story . . .
Non-Conference Opponents

After dropping the opening game at Illinois to a veteran squad, the Bulldogs gave the Buckeyes of Ohio State a rugged battle in a losing cause. The game was highlighted by Jeff Blue’s 31 points, sharing high-game honors with All-American Gary Bradds. The Bulldogs hoped to crack the victory barrier when they traveled to California for a two-game slate with Southern California and U.C.L.A., but they fell to the Trojans and then lost the following evening to the powerful nationally-ranked “number one” Uclans, led by All-American Walt Hazzard and highly-regarded Fred Slaughter.

Continuing their rough competition, the Bulldogs entertained Michigan’s nationally-ranked Wolverines, put up a respectable effort, but fell to the razzle-dazzle of Cazzie Russel and all Big Ten Bill Buntin. Butler finally chalked up a victory over a hustling Purdue team. The Bulldogs then traveled to Illinois, only to take another lump on the chin. The finest effort of the young season was turned in on the home court against Toledo in December. Then a well-polished Michigan State Spartan team downed the Bulldogs on the home court over Christmas vacation. Bulldog luck went well against the Wabash Cavemen as they took two games from them in late season play, but were subdued twice themselves by an unpredictable Notre Dame team, led brilliantly by speedy guard Larry Sheffield. The Big Blue also played well against the Bradley Braves and Lavert Tart, but lost to make their record against non-I.C.C. foes stand at 4-9.

ICC Opponents

Conference play was a completely different story for the harassed and discouraged Bulldogs, after plodding through the preliminary schedule of the roughest teams in the country. Experience was a fine teammate in pre-conference play, but not quite good enough for the Bulldogs finished in a tie for second best behind the Evansville Aces. Although big Jeff Blue played his usual fine games, junior Dave Sanders took scoring honors in most of the conference games. And sparkplug Tom Jones added a needed flicker of hustle to the Bulldog cause consistently during the conference games. At times, senior Greg Ferrin turned in sterling performances. Along with the steady play of Larry Shade, juniors Mike Chapman and Ron Iwema surged the Bulldogs to their 9 won, 3 lost record in conference competition. The Big Blue downed St. Joseph, DePauw, Valparaiso, and Indiana State, and Ball State once. Butler lost a vital game in the conference race to Ball State at Muncie when Blue was sidelined with a sprained ankle. The team failed to overhaul the Aces, who finished the season with an unbeaten record for the first time in the history of the conference. Thus the Bulldogs finished the year with a respectable 13 won, 13 lost record and scored a hit with the home town fans by setting a new home attendance record of 111,680 for 13 games. Regardless of whether or not the crown rests at Butler, the 1964 team was truly one to be proud of. Greg Ferrin, Dick Green, Don Fledderjohn, and Mike and Jeff Blue played their last game for Butler this year, but the 6’6” senior from Bainbridge, Jeff Blue, finished in a blaze of glory. He set the following Butler records: three year scoring (1392), three year rebounding (953), sophomore scoring (447), and most free attempts in a single season (228). He was Most Valuable Player the last two years and was All-Conference three successive years.

Note: Ave. refers to Average.
Led by the high scoring trio of Steve Sadler, Gene Milner, and Gary Cox, the freshman finished the season with a fine 6 won, 2 lost record. Sadler, a highly talented athlete from Martinsville, led the scoring with a 15.8 average, while Milner followed closely with 15.5, and Cox, with 14.4. Scoring was well-balanced among other members of the teams who played consistently for coach “Pop Hedden.” Ron Salatich, Bill Brown, and Jon Crosley turned in excellent performances as did John Marsh, Terry Smith, and Mickey Scott. In their eight games the freshmen scored 745 total points for a record breaking 93.1 average per game. They scored 284 field goals and shot .711 from the free throw stripe.
The 1963 baseball team, despite its 11-8 record, had a good season. The team finished second in the I.C.C., incurring most of its eight losses in double-headers to such powers as Anderson College, Indiana, and Purdue.

Although the nucleus of the team was composed of five seniors, Hinkle has a fine crop of sophomores and freshmen to prepare for the 1964 season.

Butler’s 1963 cross country team held practice sessions during the fall season, but did not participate in any cross country meet. The hurriers hampered by the loss of graduating seniors, and the transfer of Dick Conch to the United States Naval Academy, could muster only five men to the Butler colors of blue and White.

Coach Galvin Walker relied heavily on three freshmen to fill the vacant ranks in the squad, and he hoped to strengthen the team considerably with some very promising freshmen hurriers. All three freshmen, Busby, Hammel, and Folgelberg, received freshmen numerals. Ron Volpatti, running well individually in the Little State Meet, will return to the squad next season. Terry Rudy, a veteran of the sport, graduates after four years of service.

Awards

Coach Hinkle displays the ICC championship trophy. The recipient of the football Most Valuable Player award was team captain Lee Grimm. Rich Florence received the Hilton U. Brown award for mental attitude and sportsmanship.
The Butler Legend . . . .
the B-Men's Association

The "B" Mens Club is composed of men who have won letters in any of the varsity sports. These students are either participating in athletic events or selling programs. Officers for this year's group were: President, Lee Grimm; Vice President, Frank Kraus; Secretary, Mike McGinley; and Treasurer, Wes Thompson.
The Butler Spirit . . .
the Cheerleaders

Under the able direction of captain Trudy Slaby, the cheerleaders again this year put forth a maximum effort in backing a championship football team and a determined basketball squad. Receiving better than average support from the fans this year, the cheerleaders were at every home game and followed the Bulldogs on the road whenever possible. On numerous occasions they were responsible for arousing pregame spirit as well as keeping interest alive and spurring the team on in moments of doubt and discouragement. Cheerleading awards were given this year to the following girls: Trudy Slaby, Jill Garbutt, Ina Cross, Diane Gable, and Trudy Mennen.

An important part of a college education is being in the midst of campus activities. Our candid camera caught Butler students in the act of being typical at a picnic, a rush party, a hootenanny, and a date.

Butler students reside in one of sixteen housing units on campus including six sorority houses, eight fraternity houses, and the men’s and women’s dorms. Approximately one-half of the total enrollment lives on campus. Many of the units have included new additions to accommodate Butler’s increasing number of out-of-town students.

Geneva Stunts Highlights Weekend

The 12th annual Geneva Stunts program was presented for the first time in Clowes Hall before almost a capacity crowd.

The trophies were presented in the following order: winner in the men's competition—Kappa Sigma; most original production—Pi Beta Phi; winner in the women's competition—Alpha Chi Omega.
The last section of this book contains two of the most important groups in any yearbook: the advertisers and the names of everyone appearing in the photographs.

Our advertisers helped cover the cost of the Drift. They supported us. We hope you will do the same for them.

Recently voted Miss Butler for 1964, Sandee Mac Christopher is a junior dance major from Springfield, Ohio.

Sandee has worked summer stock in Springfield. She has been the Alpha Chi Omega choreographer for Geneva Stunts for the last three years.

A good aerialist, Sandee participated in a modern jazz number for "Tempo 210" and in the Half-Time Honey shows during basketball season.

Among beauty honors she has received are Drift Beauty Court, 2nd runner-up in last year's Miss Indianapolis Contest, finalist in last year's Miss Butler Contest, and Miss Butler for 1964.

Nick-named "Grace" by sorority sisters and TKE's, Sandee is 5’2” and a "little living doll."

The inside story...

“What happens in a yearbook office?” you ask. It’s a good place to keep a record with pictures which show what happened during a year at Butler. It’s a wonderful place for students to work together towards a common goal too.

“Yes, I know a yearbook has to be published and things have to be done. But I mean—what really goes on that nobody hears about?”

This question reminds me of the day the photographer was locked out of the darkroom and he had to climb through the air vent to get in. Another funny thing happened on the way into the office: the door wouldn’t open because the lock kept turning around with the key. More trouble with the lock... one afternoon the photographer and a very attractive managing editor were locked in the office and couldn’t get out. Two section editors had their own hootenanny as they were putting their material together for a deadline. One photographer is a regular comedian—he does impersonations while he prints pictures and misses pictures while he does impersonations. We experienced some trying times too when both cameras were out of order and we couldn’t take pictures, when we threw a big Christmas party that no one came to, and when a dean called and told us not to print “that” picture. The Collegian helped us out this year. They gave us a typewriter during a deadline. We almost got away with keeping it, but they didn’t forget. Col. Baron called because he needed it for a News Writing final.

The campus map on the end sheets was a real project. Our art editor measured buildings with a ruler so it would be true to scale.

On the more serious angle, it has been most interesting to meet community people who have with pleasure contributed to the Drift. Men like Mr. James, President of AAA, John Walsh of the Civic Affairs Division of the Indiana Chamber of Commerce, and Tommy Wadelton, Star photographer, who are very interested in Butler’s future. You get to know personalities too. Closer contact with Butler leaders makes you aware of what many of them have accomplished through their extracurricular activities. “Working on the Drift staff sounds like a real good experience. What do I do to get on the staff?”

It’s simple—state your preference for next year’s staff on a piece of paper and take it to the Drift Office. Address your note to Ina Sue Cross, 1965 Drift Editor, who is now the 2nd vice-president of the Indiana Collegiate Press Association. Let me tell you that I had a staff this year that was tops. Some of the staff members will never know how much they helped in the making of this yearbook. A good book has to have the cooperation of many people with different talents, like the photographers and the art staff people, in order to be a success. We had a good year, and I feel you will agree that the 1964 Drift ranks among Butler’s best.
