Logological charades occur when a word is split into two or more words which make a phrase. Thus BESTRIDE - BEST RIDE and NOTABLE - NOT ABLE are charades. Occasionally, the original word together with the words into which it divides all make a phrase: BITTERN BIT TERN. In these charades, the word FORMATE splits into FORM ATE. However, in the amœbic charades below FORMATE splits into FORM MATE! In other words, the letter M has taken on amœbic tendencies, replicating itself so that it can appear both at the end of the first word and the beginning of the second word. Here is an A-Z of amœbic charades:

- A. SEARCHES = SEA ARCHES, ADAGES = ADA AGES, ALLLIES = ALL LIES

The phrase produced may bear a meaningful relationship to the original word:

WEDGED? - WE EDGED

MADAME - MAD DAME

WIDOWED? - WIDOW WED

FOREST - FOR REST

A step further. The following are amœbic charade equivalents of BITTERN BIT TERN in which the original word, together with the words into which it divides, make a phrase:

ROBINS ROB BINS

CAROLL'S CAR ROLLS

DISHY DI'S SHY

All the original words so far offer just a single amœbic letter. In the examples below, the original word exhibits 2 or 3 amœbic letters:

VERANDA = VERA AND DA

LISTENED = LIST TEN NED

ARCHIDENE (var. archdean) = ARCH HID DENE

PASTERNED = PA'S STERN NED

MENDELIAN = MEND DELI IAN

WEATHERED = WE EAT THERE ED

Rarely, the original word exhibits alternative amœbic letters:

MASTIFF (dog) = MAST TIFF or MA'S STIFF

PASTORY = PAST TORY or PA'S STORY

When it comes to demonstrating the amœbic charade genre, Diana (Di for short) takes some beating. We learn a lot about the lady. She is shy but strict, has a sallow complexion, is subject to stress, wears furs, uses a stick, gardens, makes cakes and is obliging but prone to be late...

1 amœbic letter

DISTAFF = DI'S STAFF

DISTRESS = DI'S STRESS

DISTANCE = DI'S STANCE

DISABLE = DI'S SABLE

DISTAIN = DI'S STAIN

DISHED = DI'S SHED

DISOWN = D'S SOWN

DISEDGE = DI'S SEDGE

DICES = DI ICES

DITCHES = DI ITCHES

2 amœbic letters

DISHY = DI IS SHY

DIME = DI, I'M ME

DISTRICT = DI IS STRICT

DISALLOW = DI IS SALLOW

3 amœbic letters

DISTILLATE = DI IS STILL LATE

DISOBLIGING = DI IS SO OBLIGING

Thank you Di!
