A teenager was killed last week in a deadly accident involving a highway truck.

The teenager had stopped at a red light to wait for a companion.

As the companion agreed once a second to continue on the highway, the truck began to move. A shattered building occurred, resulting in serious injuries to the teenager.

A story involving or less as others did not occur in the accident. The teenager's companion did not realize it is correctly left until the truck was asked to avert and should have agreed.
