

"Hey, Joe, don't forget to put something in the hat."

Now, whenever I grow tired of New York, I take a long walk in the morning, just gazing at the colossal maestro and listening to the wondrous concert.

IMMANUEL (GOD WITH US)

Ben Strasser

God be with us every day
Throughout every lonely hour,
Guide us along our pilgrim way
To the everlasting tower.

Teach us the spirit to forgive
To be humble, to be true,
Bestow a better way to live
On sinners who have martyred you.

Give us the impulse to atone
For wrong committed, men betrayed,
So our hearts may someday own
The many mansions You have made.

Tom-Boy

Jane Hallam

WHAT is a tom-boy? The dictionary says "a girl of romping and boistrous conduct." My childhood actions were such that I received the reputation of being a decided tom-boy. All of my after-school hours I spent playing with two boy cousins who lived near me. These boys were proud of my ability to join in rough games, and they considered me to be just another brother.

We enjoyed all sports—football, basketball, baseball, and marbles, but football was my favorite. While playing football one day I gained the respect of the boys in the neighborhood by tackling one boy and giving him a bloody nose. After this unpleasant experience, he said, "From now on I either play on the same side she's on, or I don't play at all."

Playing basketball was also one of my major achievements because, being left handed, I could perform a one-handed push shot, that none of the boys could equal.

We spent many happy hours playing Tarzan in my Aunt's backyard where there were several cherry trees. The boys took turns being Tarzan; and I, of course, was Jane, his mate.

My first fishing experience was a memorable one. With a home-made pole and a can of worms my friends and I sat down on the creek bank hoping to catch some fish. In a very short time my line began to jerk; immediately I pulled the line out of the water, and there, to my surprise, dangled a sunfish. While I stood transfixed admiring this beautiful aquatic specimen, it flipped off the hook. My disappointment over losing the fish was great, but I have never forgotten the thrill of that one moment in which I thought the fish was mine.

Most girls would consider it an insult to be called a tom-boy, but I did not share this view. Since I have reached maturity, I find that little girls who are also tom-boys appeal most to me. I think this is because I can understand them better than little ladies.

Rebirth of a Nation

Howard L. Rose

WITH full scale building projects underway Germany is slowly and steadily rebuilding much of the destruction it suffered during World War II. These industrious people, who have a tremendous amount of spirit and ambition, have come a long way since the tragic war days.

Besides rebuilding material things the German people are striving desperately to maintain and even improve the peace they now have. It is not easy to forget the perils of war when a country's soldiers are still being released from Russian concentration camps. The effects of such a devastating war are hard to forget, especially since so many of the shadows of days past still linger in the background.

The continued shipments of American troops to Germany is helping much to give the Germans a feeling of security. Their attitude and behavior toward the American soldier is very commendable. It is not at all unusual to see many of our servicemen in German homes on holidays and weekends. This among other friendly actions is helping much to improve the pleasant relationship which exists between our troops and the German people. This is probably contrary to the thoughts of many Americans who believe that the Germans still retain a certain degree of resentment toward us and our soldiers. In most cases, that is not a prevalent condition.

Another factor toward building national unity and security is that the German people will soon be allowed to have an army of their own on a limited and restricted basis.

It is indeed surprising but wonderful to see the continuous accomplishments which these people are attaining. Perhaps the greatest factor in their wonderful recovery is their never-say-die attitude. The American soldier stationed in Germany is an eye-witness to the moral, spiritual, and physical rebirth of the nation.
