

SCOTTISH OCCUPATIONS

BORIS RANDOLPH
Los Angeles, California

According to Social Security records, the most common Scottish Macs are MacDonald (57 thousand), MacKenzie (18 thousand) and MacKay (11 thousand). Any telephone directory will reveal many others, but I suspect that few people have encountered the following Macs and their appropriate occupations:

MacHicolation - architect	MacCaboy - tobacconist
MacHinery - mechanic	MacKinaw - haberdasher
MacRame - weaver	MacKerel - fisherman
MacAque - zookeeper	MacAbre - mortician
MacOck - greengrocer	MacOnite - mineralogist
MacCus - comic actor	MacCabean - Jewish historian
MacEllum - butcher	Mac Edoine - cook
MacErste - dietitian	MacRotia - audiologist
MacRodont - dentist	MacRocsm - astronomer
MacUmba - dancer	MacRon - grammarian
MacKle - printer	MacUla - dermatologist
MacHete - cutler	MacAroni - Italian restaurateur
MacAroon - baker	MacQuereau - pimp
MacUshia - courtesan	MacHiavelli - politician
MacRobian - gerontologist	MacTation - executioner

On second thought, perhaps one or two of these Macs can actually be found in telephone directories -- let the editor know of any discoveries you make!
