

thus have i wished
Jody Neff

How can one who has a soul so deep
That few can penetrate its endless size
Continue hiding as in deepest sleep
While really much desiring, worldly wise?
If others could but see your inward smile
Which warms our hearts and shines to light each day,
They could see further than your masks beguile
And stand aware of more than what you say,
Thus have I wished for truth to be revealed,
But precious gifts within your soul are sealed.
