Numerogram is a puzzle which I invented in 2001. It was firstly published in Belgrade magazine "Enigmatika".

Every letter in alphabet has its value (A=1, B=2, C=3, etc). By adding the values from numerogram, we get some sum, a number which is also a sum of the letters in our solution. For example, in the sentence A BLESSED SAVIOR sum is 151 (1+2+12...). The first key to the solution is 5-6 (number of the letters) and the second key is J-C (the first letters). The solution is: JESUS CHRIST!

While not actual anagrams, the technique of assigning each letter of the alphabet a numeric value yields some fascinating results. Try to solve 30 numerograms which I composed in 2003 with Jesse Frankovich, one of the best American anagrammatists.
