

Fani Anagnostou

vase sitting at the exact end of a baseball's journey we could travel into the pieces broken, losing history seep through the veins of glaze around traces of human life inside you inanimate; unfair label when vibrations still hang by the mantel

Mari Kozlowski