Here's a game to whet your appetite, or (great expectorations!) wet your appetite for spelling challenges.

The phrases below may be as familiar to you as your old stamping (or is it stomping?) grounds, but when it comes to spelling them, you may be in dire straights (or is it dire straits?). Like the cat that ate cheese and then breathed into the mousehole, I'm sure you're waiting with baited breath (or should that be bated breath?) and champing (or perhaps champing?) at the bit. May your answers and mine jibe (or maybe jive?) completely so that you don't miss by a hare's breath (hare's breadth? hair's breadth? hair's breadth?).

For each phrase that follows choose the preferred spelling. Answers are in Answers and Solutions at the end of the issue.
