

fractals & the Big Bang the profile is the same of a pebble

and its mountain--the shape of tapering mounds same down to the smallest peak.
The voice of a cat modulates from low to high and stays on key.
The design is too perfect to be anything but chance,
The beginning was a rush to fit to the tightest space...the hydrogen pushing itself aside, saying "yes! This bit's mine,"
Making circles in other circles,
The simplicity of this place.

Mary Kozlowski