BOOKS A-LIST ALIST

JAN ANDERSON
New York, New York

Below are listed the scrambled titles of 11 current and known non-fiction and 6 fiction books. The scramble refers (perhaps obliquely) to the book's content as does the "review" (using the same letters) that follows. The scrambled author's name puns on something about him/her or the book. Listings are in alphabetical order by the real book titles.

OH, YOU BE

KAY HAUGAARD
Pasadena, Calif.

Once upon a time, her oyster and her dumb bunny and her bonnet to join was working in the sardines.

Her figure made a catty, little felly.

The cow who acted kittenish was a dashing looks (which could grig as thought).

The top dog made him cross.

Her mother made her job just and never be her.

The girl kept the boss. As some times he ramped work like a hoop.

A pigeon. Acting like

One day a bird, all the office liked.

Even our little shrimp, invited her to join.
