ANIMAL CRACKERS

A. ROSS ECKLER
Morristown, New Jersey

Are you tired of anagram puzzles which give the clue "colorless poet" for DRAB BARD, or "kingly scowl" for REGAL GLARE? If so, the following skull-crackers should be more to your taste -- no anagrammed pairs have less than seven letters each, and one even reaches the plateau of fifteen. The puzzles are arranged in groups with the shortest phrases first. Answers are given in Answers and Solutions at the end of this issue, but in addition Hints are given overleaf; the letters entering into each anagram are arranged in alphabetical order. (But do try to solve them first using the clues only!)

7 Letting off steam after a touchdown Crying apes
Don't look a gift snake in the mouth
A tiger can't be camouflaged Fragrant drop Fixes foils
A strange outdoor grill
What cookbooks for the neophyte contain Nocturnal earthquakes Stamps issued by Hitler's police Jungle cat released from prison
Cheese-dish judge
What morticians do
Too much sex at night?
Beach illness
Single girls, beware of him!
A restless nobleman
Not enough novocaine -- ouch!
Japanese schoolboy?
A more painful downside correction

8 Caged Brooklyn songbirds
A nattily-dressed pagan Linept musicians perform 19th-century works Anonymous drummers
The end of the line, for commuters
She only thinks she's got a headache Oceanic pollution did this god in The last supporter of the king Soft job? Abolish it!
Black humorist
Our Chinese cousin

A zoo f
The yac Adverti
A devil Cathedr
What or Speciali
Most l

9 My fath Successf Sanction
What El Pretenti
A Febru
A sweet Law-bre
Wrinkle Desirabl Quiet ju
What MC
Fruit fr
Boat cor Favorite

10 Decembe William Germ-fre
Grandma Rough e
Sterile n
What th

11 Census
Cuts inc
Antievol
Pre-Revo

12 The unp
Tumors

13 Football

14 Vampire

The forma a manuscript
The author to this work.
A zoo full of hedonists
The yacht Liberty on a sandbar Advertising policy of an ice-cream parlor
A devil with time on his hands Cathedral floor plans
What one sees in Betty Crocker ads Specialized groups
Most lighthearted gravestone inscriptions

9 My father, mother, sister, brother can do anything Successful restaurateur
   Sanctions against Israel
   What Ellis Island saw Pretentious fabrics
   A February greeting card from Lebanon
   A sweet prostitute
   Law-breaking sybarites Wrinkled pants support Desirable extra Quiet jungle queens What MCPs accuse Women's Libbers of Fruit from South America Boat companions
   Favorite Protestant soft drink?

10 December celebration Down Under William Jennings Bryan, for example Germ-free parrot
   Grandma's an old cutie-pie Rough edges in the bakery?
   Sterile north Italian What the Congressional Record is full of 11 Census in rural Appalachia Cuts incurred looking for family gravestones Antievolutionary talks Pre-Revolutionary uncertainty: to secede or not?

12 The unpredictable artist Tumors detected in both the Old and the New World

13 Football mistakes up North

14 Vampire movie-maker

The format of this article, as well as the title, is taken from a manuscript submitted by Don Emmerson for Word Ways publication. The author gratefully acknowledges his intellectual contribution to this work.
JAY AMES
Toronto, Can.

Running a Czech-French crossword can have its ups and downs. You might be wondering why it might be worth your while and which words might be worth trying. Only those words that have indicated in English are familiar with F.

Editor's Note

al (but) arch (sheet) bank (pool) blanket (fwa) bob (bean) bráť (tač) brink (clear) bud (either) čáp (stork) cár (rag) cást (part) cop (braid, dálé (distant) daně (tax) den (day) dole (down) drive (form) dub (oak) fagot (bass) gáže (salar) grunť (farm) had (snake) hod (throw) hold (homage) holy (bare) host (guest) house (gos) hut (iron) jet (ride)