A PREMODERN PALINDROMIC HISTORY

HOWARD RICHLER
Cote St. Luc, Quebec, Canada

It's a heavy burden I carry as a member of the most oppressive group on the planet. Yes, you guessed it. I am a White Heterosexual Adult Male or WHAM. Postmodernist deconstructionist analysis has proved that WHAMs are inherently biased.

I thought that writing for Word Ways would be sanctuary from the slings and arrows of the cultural cognoscenti about my biases but I was wrong. Dave Morice, the Iowan iconoclast, accused me of (for lack of a better term) modernism in the February 1991 Kickshaws. Referring to my "Palindromic History of Civilization" in the November 1990 Word Ways, Mr. Morice stated "His selections were weighted in favor of the 20th century". He then proceeded to emit some pre-20th century palindromes so that symmetry could be restored to recorded time.

There you have it. Morice's j'accuse hit straight to the marrow.
I had to admit my piece had a modernist slant. To atone for my bias, I've been dredging the palindromic archives for the last two years searching for premodern palindromes. Here are my dregs.

SEX, REX XERXES? (480 B.C.) An Athenian courtesan propositions the conquering Persian king

SORE DEIFIER REIFIED EROS (399 B.C.) At his trial, Socrates is accused of corrupting youth

WE, PLATO, TAR A TOTAL PEW (365 B.C.) Attributed to an ebullient Aristotle after one of the lads at the Academy spilled tar on a bench

SULLA, CALL US (88 B.C.) Confronted by Sulla that he and Sulpicius are challenging Sulla's rule, Marius gives Sulla a flip-pant reply

DRAW, 0 CAESAR, ERASE A COWARD (44 B.C.) Caesar ignores advice to do unto Brutus before Brutus does unto him

REVOLTING IS ERROR: RESIGN IT, LOVER (73 B.C.) Spartacus's girlfriend implores him not to lead a revolt against Rome

YAWN A MORE ROMAN WAY (39 A.D.) Caligula explains Roman etiquette to a first-term Senator

GALL A ROMAN IN A MORAL LAG (39 A.D.) Further advice is forthcoming from Caligula

TONSURED NERO, RENDER US NOT (68 A.D.) Some prisoners awaiting execution for mocking Nero's skinhead plead for mercy

GNOSTIC, A TACIT SONG (150 A.D.) According to the Gnostic Christians, knowledge, not faith, is the path to salvation

I NAB RUMOR FROM URBAN I (229 A.D.) A bishop eavesdrops on the first city Pope
