YES, WE HAVE NO ASCENDERS (PART 2)

REX GOOCH
Letchworth, Herts, England

In the first part of this article (May 1999), we presented words consisting solely of ascenders (bdfhiklt), descendents (gjpqy), body letters (acemnorsuvwxz), or ascenders or descendents. In this part, we consider words consisting of cyclic mixtures of the various types. For example, Darryl Francis gave SINICIZING and LUTEINIZING as alternating body letters with any of the other types; in the former, the pattern begins with a body letter and in the latter, with an ascender. There are many possible cycles using two or three types, especially when the type of the first letter is taken into account.

1. ASCENDERS OR DESCENDERS, ALTERNATING WITH BODY LETTERS
Ascenders/descenders and body letters encompass a choice of vowels and consonants, thus making long words possible.

Start with Ascenders or Descenders (all known words of 12+ letters)
14 bububububububu (Dict Jamaican English)
13 trivial-minded, to fetch a frisk, to fetch a fetch, printed wiring, inquiring mind (Bloomsbury Thesaurus), hohohohohohohoh (Joyce: Ulysses), hatchet-shaped?, fairyryng spot?, driving-spring, daisychaining

2. ASCENDERS OR DESCENDERS (minus I), ALTERNATING WITH BODY
LETTERS (including I)
Both ascenders/descenders and body letters have a good choice of consonants, but ascenders/descenders are restricted to one vowel (Y). Despite this, words of good length can be found. Useful endings such as -ATE, -ITE, -DATE(D), -LATE(D), -LIKE and -ATRY may be legitimate, depending on the length of the word.

idoslatry, epilogated, elapidated, egelitated, clutch slip (Bloomsbury Thesaurus)
3. ASCENDERS, ALTERNATING WITH DESCENDERS
The lack of any vowel other than Y pushes us toward older English spellings, and gives but a small yield.

Start with Ascenders
5 tytyl, tykyl, tydyf (var form), lytyl (little, OED), Dyfyd (Welsh)
4 tydy (var form), lyly (Longmans), lyfy, kydy, kyby, hyly, hylp, dgtp (Medical), dgdp?, byly (var form), byby (Longmans0

Start with Descenders
6 phytyl
4 ylyk, ykyt, ykyd (var form), yhyd, ydyt, ydyl (var form), plyt, plyd, phyt (Medical), phyl (Longmans), glyt, glyd (var form), glyb (var form)

4. CYCLE OF ASCENDER, BODY LETTER, DESCENDER
Two-thirds of the letters are of the less-frequent types, and their position in the word is ordained; therefore the haul is bound to be small, especially considering one should have at least six letters to demonstrate two cycles. The absence of seven-letter solutions is interesting.

9 taptaptap (Web2)
8 tryfoyle, keybugle
6 twyley (var form), tuphog, toy dog, toyboy, top dry, top dog, teydey (var form), tap-tap, tapley?, tap-boy, tag day, loglog, lay-day, layboy (Web2), laptop, Lapley (place), lap-lap, lap-dog, key-log, kept up, hoyday, hop-top, hop-dog, hop-bag, heydey (Pulliam), heyday, Hayley (forename), hay-day, haybag, Hagley (place), Fryday (var form), fog-dog, fag hag, fag-day, duplay?, dugdug (Web2), doyley, dog tag, dog-leg, dog-hep, dog-day, dog-boy, deploy, dayhop (Amer Heritage Dict), dayday?, day-but, day-boy, dapdap?, dag-boy, Bugley (place), bug-boy, brybry, boytoy?, bog hop, bog-hay, beg beg, bayley (var form), baylay (var form), bay-bay (Web2), bagley (Stedman), baglap

5. CYCLE OF DESCENDER, BODY LETTER, ASCENDER

7 polpody, gadgety
5 yelped, yak yak (Bloomsbury Thesaurus), yah yah, qwhyet (var form), putput, pulysh, pulyol, pulyal, pulped, pulpal, potgut, polyol, polyad, Pol Pot, Pelynt (place), pat-pat, palyet, palped, palpal, palgat (Web2), judged, jubjub, gulped, gulgul (Web2), gukguk, gudlet, golpol, galyot, galyet, galyak (Web2), galgal (Web2), gadjet (var form), gadget, gabgab (Web2)

A number of easily-recognised words of length 5 exist (YELPS, PULPS, PUDGE, POLYA, PODGE, PALPA, JUDGE, GULPS), but you need six letters to complete two cycles.
