Some Possible Items on the Menu at a Mathematics Restaurant:
By Chris Morgan
(with help from our crack team of contributors)

What might you find on the Menu down at the Mathematics Restaurant? Here are some possibilities:

By the axiom of choice, you may choose any menu item(s). Specials can be viewed on the Hash table.

Starters:

Gardner salad with Euler and vinegar dressing
Fibonaccichos
Turing of soup
Dim Sums

Entrees:

Barbe-QED Prime Rib
Mandelbrotwurst
Roast Lambda
Corned Beef and Babbage with Nash potatoes
Mahi^2 with Cous^2 and a side of Tar^2 sauce
Zermelo Frankfurters
Chicken prepared average -- Chow Mean, Meaty and a la Mode.
Pythagorean Stew -- made in a pot with two square legs (equivalent to a square high pot in use)

Sides:

Cubed Rutabaga
Bertrand Russell sprouts
Oysters on the half space
Three-bean salad
Seven-layer dip
Pascal Celery

Desserts:

Pi
Petite fours
Pineapple Reciprocal Cake
Angle Food Cake
Tres Leche Cake
Fig Newtons
Fruit Boole
Proof Pudding
Menger Sponge Cake
Cheeses are available on Descartes

To Drink:

Einstein of Root Beer
Galileo wine, served by the Sumalier in a Klein bottle
Ramana Gin and Tonic

***************

All of our waitresses are acute, and the waiters obtuse.
After the meal, you may need a new Gödel.

***************

Contributors:
Gary Foshee
John Rausch
Rod Bogart
Norton Starr
Wei-Hwa Huang