CONUNDRUMS: WHAT'S THE DIFFERENCE?
WILL SHORTZ
Pleasantville, New York

Last fall, in my Sunday puzzle segment on NPR, I ran a two-week creative challenge involving conundrums. The object was to write an original conundrum starting “What is the difference between ...?,” in which the answer involved a transposition of words. Change of spelling in the words was allowed.

More than 1,500 entries were submitted, many of them good and some of them brilliant. I judged them on sense, naturalness of wording, humor, elegance, and overall effect. Below, for the record, are my favorites.
